City budget will exceed $10 million

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

The biggest projected spending bill in Granite City's history—a series of budgets that will bring to $10.2 million the city's total estimated expenditures during the current 1979-80 fiscal year—was placed on first reading by the City Council Tuesday night.

In contrast to budget practices of previous years, the appropriation bill presented to council members in Tuesday's regular meeting comprised four separate budgets, rather than a single operating budget that included all four categories in past years.

The budgets in the new appropriation bill total $9,207,958, an increase of $1,531,813 over the budget projections in the same four categories contained in the single operating budget a year ago.

Added to this total is the new $996,237 federal revenue sharing budget approved by the City Council a week ago, bringing the city's total projected expenditures this year to $10,204,195.

This is an increase of $1,764,089 over last year's total budget of $8,440,106, including federal revenue sharing expenditures.

Budgets contained in the appropriation bill placed on first reading included a general operating budget of $6,633,319, a Community Development grant budget of $958,807, a sewage treatment plant budget of $1,421,475 and a motor fuel tax budget of $194,357.

In previous years, Community Development, sewage treatment plant and motor fuel tax budgets were included in the overall general operating budget. Federal revenue sharing budgets always have been prepared separately.

The new general operating budget of $6,633,319 is an increase of $719,637 over the $5,913,682 budgeted for those same items last year, while the sewage treatment plant budget, listed

Completion of new ovens by mid-March

Reconstruction of Granite City Steel's "A" Coke Ovens battery is proceeding on schedule, GCS Engineering Vice President John G. Despo said Wednesday. Begun on Jan. 2, the project is expected to be completed by mid-March 1980.

Significant improvements in air quality in the coking operation are expected.

Major changes have been designed into the replacement battery, primarily to bring about reductions in particulate emissions during the operation of the ovens, according to Dr. Donald F.

Utility tax may be a half percent

An ordinance that would institute a Granite City utilities consumption tax was distributed to members of the City Council for study Tuesday night as Mayor Paul Schuler announced such a tax may be only half—or even less—than the 1 percent levy originally proposed.

While the proposed ordinance, which has become highly controversial due to opposition by industry and business, does not establish the rate of the tax, Mayor Schuler told a public hearing on the plan that the rate should be finally determined soon and inserted in the bill.

When the energy tax proposal developed two weeks ago as a means of financing the balance of cost of building the proposed downtown overpass, the city suggested a tax of 1 percent.

During the public hearing at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the main-floor courtroom at the city hall, the mayor said:

"We are now thinking along the lines of one-half of 1 percent, or perhaps only one-quarter of 1 percent."

After the hearing, Mayor Schuler told the Press-Record that it is obvious on the basis of information given by Granite City Steel that a 1 percent tax would raise far more than the estimated $300,000 per year necessary to finance a general obligation bond issue to help pay for the overpass construction. The city needs $1.3 million to round out a total of $5.2 million, estimated as the total cost.

The proposed utility tax ordinance also does not yet specify the number of years the tax would remain effective to retire the bonds.

Mayor Schuler said the amount of the rate and the period of bond amortization will be determined after the Illinois Power Co. makes available to the city sufficient revenue information to make these determinations. He said the utility has agreed to make this information available.

The public hearing was called after major industries in Granite City protested the city's plan to establish the energy tax on gas and electric power.

Leo Konzen, Granite City attorney representing Granite City Steel, American Steel Foundries, A.O. Smith Corp. and Nestle, Inc., who had voiced the industries' objections in a council session a week ago, also appeared at the hearing and appealed again to the city to "find another way" to finance the overpass construction.

He emphasized that the industries have no objection to the overpass, but do object to additional taxation as a means of raising the money. The attorney said the tax would add another burden to industrial competition in the world market. He said the tax might help drive some industry out of the area or keep others from moving in.

Similar objections were expressed by officials of local industries in a meeting with Schuler Monday in the Granite City Steel Co. offices. Mayor Schuler said the industrial leaders outlined objections heard by the council last week.

Most of those attending the hearing were residents of West Granite City and expressed approval of the overpass.

project, citing instances of problems arising from train blockages at the railroad tracks.

John Belcoff, chairman of the Tri-City Regional Port Authority, spoke in favor of the overpass, noting its construction will open the port to more convenient travel at a time when the port is expanding and preparing to develop an 8-acre tract as an industrial park. He made no reference to the tax issue.

Louis Cohen, operator of Cohen Foods, told the hearing the railroad owes him "about six months of my life" because he has spent that much time waiting for trains to pass. Cohen said he has been waiting and hoping for 40 years that an overpass would be built. He noted that traffic tieups and the blockage of emergency vehicles has been detrimental to all of the residents of Granite City.

Crash at gasoline line

A motorcycle was injured in an accident which police believe was related to a line on Nameoki Road attempting to get gasoline at the Clark service station on Nameoki Road at Washington Avenue at 6:55 a.m. Wednesday.

Daniel Askins, 26, of 724 Twenty-seventh Place, was riding his cycle on Madison Avenue when the car in front of him, driven by Pansy Pedigo, 21 Meadowlark Court, slowed suddenly for a line of stopped cars approaching the service station.

Askins' cycle hit the rear of her car, causing him to be thrown into the air and into the rear of the vehicle of Betty Alfaro, 2510 Jerden Ave., which was in the center lane, police were told.

Askins was taken by a Granite City ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center where he was admitted with fractures to his right

Paramedics ready

Granite City's first paramedic unit is being established and will be placed in operation as soon as equipment is acquired by the city and by St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Fire Chief Don Parente announced Wednesday.

Arrangements to initiate operations of a paramedic team here were stepped up earlier this month following graduation of six Granite City emergency medical technicians from a paramedic training course at Wood River Township Hospital, Parente said.

One of the city's four ambulances will be equipped to meet state requirements and the medical needs of paramedics operation. The unit will operate out of the main fire station at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue.

An appropriation is provided in the new city operating budget to provide equipment for converting the one ambulance to paramedic use, Parente said, noting the cost will be about $20,000.

Beginning of the operation also will depend upon St. Elizabeth Medical Center's financing arrangements for installing the extensive radio and monitoring equipment required by such operations.

Parente said he has been meeting with hospital authorities and that the medical center has assured him of cooperation in operation of the unit.

The six paramedics who have completed training at Wood River include Matthew Gasparovich, Jon Langenstein, James Monaghan, Arthur Asadorian, Daniel Worthen and David Bell. They were among 11 persons completing the training.

The men, all EMT's with the Granite City Ambulance Service which is operated by the fire department, began attending classes at Wood River Township on June 5, 1978. They attended the school two nights weekly for the past year, while continuing to work

Truck thief runs out of gas but succeeds

Two men in their 40s stole a white 1972 Ford Explorer pickup truck with a camper shell from the used car lot of Courtesy Motors, 1159 Niedringhaus Ave., at 11:30 p.m. Sunday while a friend of the owner watched in dismay. Due to an apparent misunderstanding in communicating with Venice authorities a few minutes later, the theft succeeded.

Glen Dickey, who knows the car lot owner, was riding his motorcycle when he noticed two men on the lot, one in the truck and the other in a 1966 Chevrolet with Illinois license plates which did not belong to Courtesy Motors.

Dickey watched until both vehicles drove away and followed them to the McKinley Bridge, where the truck ran out of gasoline. Dickey called Venice police but was told both squad cars were busy on a disturbance call.

He then approached the driver of the truck and asked if he was out of gas and the driver said that he was.

Dickey returned to his motorcycle to wait for police and the Chevrolet pushed the truck across the bridge and into Missouri.

The truck has reddish-orange stripes on the hood and on both sides and bears dealer license plates. It did not have a battery on the car lot.

Both men were in their 40s, one having bleached blond shoulder-length hair and a mustache. The other had short dark hair.

Acting Venice Chief of Police Raymond Mikolazuk said failure to catch the truck thieves seems to have been due to a combination of factors. He contended Dickey had not made it clear to the dispatcher that he knew the

Venice Technical Center plans award ceremony

More than 100 diplomas and certificates of completion of adult courses will be awarded at exercises to be held by the Venice

Technical Center at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The program will be held in the Venice Park District Recreation Hall, 305

Broadway.

Awards to be presented will include 46 GED certificates, 23 diplomas for completion of high school requirements and 13 completion certificates in nurse aide training.

Also to be presented are seven certificates to those who completed machine shop training, nine in welding class and three in auto mechanics. Several certificates are to be awarded for completion of requirements in general business courses.

Duane Rankin is director of the Venice Technical School which conducts certificate awards once each year. Those who will receive diplomas and certificates in Friday night's ceremony are those who entered classes since August, 1978. All are adults.

Cong Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) had been scheduled to speak at the exercises, but he notified Rankin Tuesday that he would have to cancel the appearance because of congressional activities.

Another speaker will be scheduled, it was said.

INJURES NECK

Carol White, 3905 Village Lane, suffered pain to her neck after being involved in an auto accident early this week and was treated and released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

4 from family hurt in crash

A father and mother and their two children were injured in an auto accident during the weekend and were treated and released from St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Gary Beal Sr., 40, of 2209 Orville Ave., suffered abrasions to his left elbow and his wife, Velma Beal, 40, suffered abrasions and a cut to her left arm and pain to her right arm.

All four were released after X-rays and emergency room treatment.

Fest to feature James Taylor

"Sweet Baby James" James Taylor will appear at the Mississippi River Festival for a special Fourth of July matinee at 2:30 p.m. and another performance on Thursday, July 5, at 7:30 p.m. on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Taylor, with his lilting melodies and lyrics, has progressed over the past decade from an unknown street corner musician to one of contemporary music's best known singers and songwriters.

Growing up in Chapel Hill, N.C., the son of a surgeon and medical school dean, Taylor left for New York City in 1966 to form a band called The Flying Machine. After a difficult year, the band broke up and Taylor began his career as a solo artist.

Peter Asher, who had just been appointed head of the newly formed Apple Records, signed Taylor as the first "outside" act on the label.

James Taylor was Taylor's first album. Later, back in the United States, Taylor produced "Sweet Baby James," which sold three million copies.

This was followed by Mud Slide Slim and the Blue Horizon, One Man Dog, and Walking Man with such hits as "You've Got A Friend" and "Don't Let Me Be Lonely Tonight."

Fame and success came to Taylor with Sweet Baby James, and it was during this time that he married Carly Simon, a major star in her own right.

Corilla came out soon after and went "gold" with the two smash hits "How Sweet It Is" and "Mexico." His next album, In The Pocket, also included several hits, such as "Shower the People" and "Family Man."

"Handy Man" highlighted his next album, JT. Taylor's latest album, Flag, includes the current hit "Up On The Roof."

Reserved seats are $9.50 and lawn seats are $7. No bottles, glass containers, alcoholic beverages, cameras or recording devices are allowed on the festival grounds.

Assault charged

Oren L. Inman, 63, of 2918 Palmer Ave., was arrested at his home at 3:20 p.m. Monday and was charged with assault for allegedly swinging a fist at the mother of a Press-Record delivery boy.

Shirley Causey, 2918 Pershing Blvd., told police she was in her car waiting for her 11-year-old son Billy as he delivered papers and when he failed to return to the car, she started looking for him.

She found him at a home where she alleged a man was detaining him. Mrs. Causey got her son out of the home and to the car and alleged the man then approached the car, shook his fist at her and threatened her and then swung a fist at her.

Police were called and arrested Inman. He was released at 11:10 p.m. Monday on $50 cash bond.

Mosquito spray costly

By PETE STEHMAN
Citing the increased price of mosquito abatement spray, Nameoki Township trustees agreed to purchase a conversion kit which will make more efficient use of the township's spraying device.

Just this month the township accepted bids on the spray and found it would have to pay $13.47 per gallon for the proper chemical. That proved officials to look into more efficient ways of dispensing the spray.

Township Supervisor Harold Davis said the company which sold the township's sprayer, Clark Outdoor Spraying of St.

Louis, offers a kit which allows the sprayer to be adjusted from inside the truck and also automatically adjusts the spray percentage in accordance with atmospheric conditions.

The unit costs $1,120. Clark will pay the township $100 for the trade-in of the control panel it is now using.

Trustees agreed to get the conversion kit. "I think it would save money," Trustee Lee Adams said Monday night.

Trustee Norman Hessler said the purchase of the kit could put the township short in its mosquito abatement account, but that money can be transferred from another account should that happen.

In other action at the meeting, the board: —Accepted the annual audit report of township accounts and noted that the highway department had accumulated a deficit of $18,000 in the last fiscal year.

Hessler said the deficit was probably due to the highway commissioner expecting to receive about $37,000 from various sources did not materialize.

—Adopted an official policy concerning termination of office employees which allows each worker to be given one warning before being fired. The warning will not be required when the employee is dismissed for drunkenness or dishonesty.

—And rebid the sale of the old mosquito spraying unit. No offers were received on it at the last meeting.

100 days from arrest to trial in federal court

As the federal Speedy Trial Act continues to tighten the time allowed between arrest and trial in federal court, officials have protested that many criminals may have to be set free and that the federal civil suit division will have to take a "back seat" to criminal cases.

Effective beginning Sunday, federal courts in the Southern District, which includes Madison County, will have only 100 days from the day a defendant is arrested until his trial opens.

Under the 1979 provisions of the old law, the court must indict a person within 30 days of arrest, arraign him within 10 days of the indictment and begin trial within 60 days of arraignment.

The tightening of the times allowed began in 1976 when the courts had 60 days to indict a defendant after arrest, 10 days to arraign him and 180 days to trial. In 1977, the maximum times, in the same order, were 45 days, 10 days and 120 days.

Current maximums, until Sunday, are 35 days to indict, 10 days to arraign and 80 days to trial. Any criminal not brought to trial within 80 days had to be freed and could not be recharged for the same crime.

There have been no attempts in the Southern District to delay the new regulations, but federal judges in Chicago Friday were given a reprieve of one year before the 60 day maximum time between arraignment and trial will be enforced. Instead, Chicago federal courts will have a total of 180 days to bring a defendant to trial after the arrest.

The extension is the result of action by the executive committee of the Judicial Conference of the United States on an emergency request from Chicago judges.

Extensions also have been granted to federal courts in

The Lighter Side

By Cathey Jamison
Press-Record Feature Editor

Get a horse (they used to tell drivers)

Have you noticed that a lot of people around here are all trying to buy gasoline for their cars at the same time? I spent some time in my first gas line this week.

Personally I think the gas station operators would do better to limit the amount of purchase rather than closing so early. But what do I know?

As I sat in that line, I looked around at my gasless neighbors. I guess we must have it together in Granite City. No fights, no hassle, no one trying to cut in line. The mess in other parts of the country doesn't apply here. I wasn't out of gas, but I was close enough to want to make sure that I had enough to last the weekend, just like everybody else in town.

So I waited in line to buy gas for $8.9 cents a gallon. Remember when 49.9 was too much to pay and we went from station to station to find it a little cheaper?

Those days, I fear, are gone forever. We are at the mercy of the oil companies and there is nothing we can do about it.

We COULD all park our cars and take to the horse and buggy. I don't know what hay is going for, but it has to be less than gasoline. Buying gas after 5 p.m. is harder than trying to peel an onion with a spoon. It is a little frustrating for me since I have been in the habit of filling up after work, and old ways they do die hard.

But it is all going to turn out all right. I got my gas, after waiting a while, and my first experience wasn't too bad.

Somewhere along the way, someone will come up with an answer.

If not, there's always the horse. Wouldn't the oil companies freak if all 200 some odd million of us stopped buying gasoline tomorrow?

At least the gas shortage would be over.

FACES 3 CHARGES

Barry Dean McMillan, 35, Florissant, Mo., was charged with leaving the scene of an accident, driving while intoxicated and improper lane usage when police stopped his car at Maryville Road and Terminal Avenue at 2:20 a.m. Wednesday. It is alleged his car struck the parked car of Zarzand Hagopian, 2404 Edwards St., in front of 200 Edwards St., and then left the scene.

ONK'S DRIVE-IN LIQUOR IT'S QUICKER!

THE DUKE. Pictured with John Wayne (hands on hips) surrounded by a reception committee as he alighted from his helicopter at an airfield in the Republic of Vietnam, where Sergeant First Class Robert H. Colwell was stationed.

Recalls Wayne visit to Vietnam

By SFC ROBERT H. COLWELL

Sergeant First Class Robert H. Colwell is assigned to the Field Service Activity of the U.S. Army Troop Support and Aviation Materiel Readiness Command, as a television producer and director. The sergeant, a native of St. Louis, entered military service July 16, 1961.

It was a dark, gloomy day in the summer of 1965 when I met John Wayne while stationed in the Republic of Vietnam as an aircraft mechanic.

We heard through the grapevine that Wayne was touring Vietnam and we wondered if he would stop off at our airfield.

About 2 p.m. after having put in eight hours of our regular 12-hours seven-day-a-week shift, three Huey helicopters hovered over and set down next to another aircraft when a crew chief was busy pulling maintenance.

As the aircraft touched down, jets appeared from everywhere, whith whith looked to be every officer from the entire area. I thought to myself, and some of the others were saying, "What's going on? It must be big brass, or," excitedly, "Maybe it's John Wayne!"

About that time I saw Wayne jump out of the middle helicopter. You knew immediately it was the Duke because he was a good head taller than any of the men around him.

One of the men said, "I wonder if we'll get a chance to talk to him — and maybe shake his hand." Another blurted out, "Naw, he'll be going on to the officers' club or somewhere else with all those wheels."

Following a handshaking session, the men began to break up into smaller groups.

I thought, it would be a good time to get out my camera. I grabbed it from my tool box and said to myself, "I'm going to get a picture of the Duke."

As I got closer, Wayne began walking toward one of our helicopters on the flight line. The crew chief was standing in about six inches of water with the upper part of his body inside the tail section, known to us as the helilite.

"This tail section of the aircraft is so named because of the high temperatures generated by the hot sun beating down on the helicopter's metal, olive-drab skin.

Wayne was about 30 feet from the crew chief when he turned to the officers and put one hand out, signaling them to stop. With his other hand, he put his forefinger to his lips motioning the officers to be quiet.

I moved a little closer as he looked at me and winked, again putting his finger to his lips. He eased over to the tail boom, sloshing through the water. I remember very well that walk — just like in the movies, only now I was seeing it in person.

He bent over and grabbed the crew chief by the leg of his pants, giving him a jerk. The chief retorted in muffled tones, "Hey, knock it off. I'm busy."

The Duke looked around at everyone with that famous grin of his. He gave the soldier's pants another jerk. This time the crew chief yelled, "Hey, you! Knock it off!"

Wayne chuckled and gave the pants still another jerk. The chief yelled louder, "Leave me alone! I'm just about finished!"

He jerked the crew chief's pants one more time. This time the chief started unwinding out of the tail section, yelling as he emerged, a string of epithets.

As the crew chief slid out of the tail boom he was muttering, "What do you want? He looked at all the officers standing there, and they began to laugh. But the chief was yet to see the face of the person who had been teasing him.

Sitting in two inches of water, the chief squinted out from under the tail boom. He started smiling and said, "Hey, aren't you John Wayne?"

Looking down at the young man and reaching out with his hand, Wayne said, "Yeah!" They grasped each other's hands as the actor pulled the youngster from under the tail boom and out of the water.

The crew chief was all smiles and blurted out, "Mr. Wayne, I'm sure glad to meet you, sir — sorry I was so grumpy."

"That's all right, son," Wayne interrupted, "it was my fault for pestering you. You?"

The crew chief replied, "I'm sure proud that you did!"

They stood there talking for about 20 or 30 seconds and the conversation ended, Wayne was heard to say, "You take care now. See you back home."

The youngster replied, "Thanks for coming to see us, sir."

The Duke, pointing to the crew chief's Army tag on his shirt, said, "I thank you, son, for what you are doing."

Wayne then turned to the assembled officers and said, "I want to talk with those men," pointing in the direction of our maintenance crew.

Only then did I remember my camera, and what I was there for. As I raised the camera, the Duke started across the ramp. I walked up beside him and he grabbed me by the hand and asked, "How're you doing, son?"

He walked over to the group of my buddies and shook hands, asking each one where he was from. As he talked, I continued to take pictures.

Shortly thereafter, Wayne bid farewell, saying he had many more men to see. He walked to a waiting jeep — that famous walk — climbed into the right front seat, waved and was driven off.

The pictures turned out great, so I gave the negatives to the men I had taken, while they were shaking hands with the famous American.

Our work was sort of slow the rest of the afternoon with all kinds of kidding going on, especially with the crew chief, who was sitting in a helicopter crash later.

So, it could be the Duke and that soldier are shaking hands and laughing right now, the way they did that day 14 years ago.

Discuss grants for home sewer lines in Chouteau Township

Gordon Routh, chairman of the Madison County and Chouteau Township citizens committees for Community Development, Grant usage, met with the Chouteau Town Board of Trustees Tuesday night to work on guidelines for aiding low-income township residents in connecting their home sanitary sewers with new sewers now being constructed.

Chouteau Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks said that 42 low-income persons had used forms from the Press-Record to apply for financial aid in laying new sewer lines from their homes to the streets or alleys where the streets or alleys were constructed and several other residents telephoned the township office.

"The response indicates we have a pretty large number of low-income persons who will qualify for assistance in meeting the cost of hooking their home systems into the new sewers. The question is how much aid we can offer to persons in various financial brackets," Sparks said.

The township has committed $137,000 in Community Development funds for the 1980-81 fiscal year to aiding sewer connections by individuals and expects to receive about $57,000 more in the 1981-82 fiscal year which can be used for that purpose.

"With roughly $190,000 available, I think we can do a lot of good for a lot of people in our township who cannot afford to construct new home sewer lines when the county sewers are open," Sparks said.

The board and Routh agreed that prices should be sought from contractors on the cost, per foot, of installing home sewer lines so officials can determine more clearly how much aid can be offered to persons in various financial brackets.

Sparks also reported that 27 persons had attended a training session on the use of mosquito control equipment at the township building Tuesday. Eleven were from the Quad-City area and others came from as far away as Freeburg and Godfrey, he said.

The "Mosquito Biology and Control Training Course" was presented by the Illinois Department of Public Health and the Illinois Department of Agriculture at the request of Sparks.

Those who took the course then took an examination to determine if they will be certified to operate mosquito control equipment. Scores from the test will be announced next week, it was announced.

Sparks has been naming the township's new mosquito spray truck single-handed since it arrived, because no other certified operators had been located.

The board and Routh agreed that prices should be sought from contractors on Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

URBAN, GENEVIEVE, of San Francisco, Calif., died Wednesday, June 27, in San Francisco.

Dear sister of Meta Turley.

Private services Saturday at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township, from MERCER MORTUARY, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., Interment Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

Fire Chief Don Parent commented that the overpass is badly needed to eliminate the waiting time for emergency vehicles. He cited several instances in which train blockages might be suspect as the cause of death to patients being transported from the West Granite area.

Section two of the proposed ordinance provides:

"The first $100 a month worth of total consumption by each customer or user of said natural gas and electricity shall be excused and exempted from the tax levied in Section 1 of this ordinance."

The $100 deductible has been a point of issue since this would eliminate most householders from paying tax. Industry contends it would pay the bulk of the tax.

Also at issue has been the length of time the tax would remain in effect. Since anticipated revenue cannot be computed until the city receives needed information from Illinois Power Co., this has been left blank in the ordinance, to be filled in before the bill is offered for passage by council members.

The attorney said the tax would add another burden to industrial competition in the world market. He said tax might help drive some industry out of the area or keep others from moving in.

Similar objections were expressed by officials of local industries in a meeting with Schuler Monday in the Granite City Steel Co. offices. Mayor Schuler separately this year, is $379,915 higher than the $1,014,500 appropriated for that purpose last year.

The $586,807 budget for expenditures of Community Development grants is an increase of $414,040 over $544,167 budgeted for that purpose last year.

The federal revenue sharing budget approved a week ago is an increase of $232,276 over $763,961 budgeted in that category a year ago.

Bulk of the increase results from $5.5 percent salary increases given all city employees this year under the three-year working agreement reached between city officials and the employees a year ago. The city's annual payroll passed the $3 million mark said the industrial leaders outlined objections heard by the council last week.

Utility tax

Most of those attending the hearing were residents of West Granite City and expressed approval of the overpass project, citing instances of problems arising from train blockages at the railroad tracks.

John Belleco, chairman of the Tri-City Regional Port Authority, spoke in favor of the overpass, noting its construction will open the port to more convenient travel at a time when the port is expanding and preparing to develop an 86-acre tract as an industrial park. He made no reference to the tax issue.

Louis Cohen, operator of Cohen Foods, told the hearing he would oppose him "about six months of my life" because he has spent that much time waiting for trains to pass. Cohen said he has been waiting and hoping for 40 years that an overpass would be built. He noted that traffic tieups and the blockage of emergency vehicles has been detrimental to all of the residents of Granite City.

Fire Chief Don Parent commented that the overpass is badly needed to eliminate the waiting time for emergency vehicles. He cited several instances in which train blockages might be suspect as the cause of death to patients being transported from the West Granite area.

Section two of the proposed ordinance provides:

when last year's contract was agreed upon.

The separate motor fuel tax budget in this year's appropriation is the only category showing a budget drop. It was projected at $194,357, compared with $205,796.

Paul Fisk, chairman of the council's ordinance committee, moved to suspend the rules to allow the budget to measure on final passage during the meeting Tuesday, but Alderman Sam Whitmer said he believed the aldermen, who had just received the new budget copies, should be given an opportunity to study them. Mayor Paul Schuler said he agreed and Fisk withdrew his motion for a rules suspension.

Final action on the budget measure is expected to be taken in the council's regular session July 3.

"The first $100 a month worth of total consumption by each customer or user of said natural gas and electricity shall be excused and exempted from the tax levied in Section 1 of this ordinance."

The $100 deductible has been a point of issue since this would eliminate most householders from paying tax. Industry contends it would pay the bulk of the tax.

Also at issue has been the length of time the tax would remain in effect. Since anticipated revenue cannot be computed until the city receives needed information from Illinois Power Co., this has been left blank in the ordinance, to be filled in before the bill is offered for passage by council members.

Section 11 of the proposed ordinance reads:

"Each and every provision of this ordinance shall be null and void unless extended by the corporate authorities after it has been in effect (blank) years."

City attorney Lance Callis, in response to a question by Alderman Sam Whitmer, said that this provision is necessary because the ordinance must be made subject to control by future council members.

Callis also told the hearing that there is no discrimination in the $100 deductible clause because it applies to all customers.

"We feel our position is right and is defensible in court if need be," he said.

The budget then was placed on first reading.

"Completion of this year's budget bill is the earliest in recent history. Customarily the budget has been delayed through a series of council discussions until near the deadline. State law requires the budget to be approved and given legal publication not later than July 31."

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the finance committee, commended city officials and department heads for their work in preparing the budget this year.

Sell student-built house for $72,100

The home on Hamilton Drive that students in Building Trades Programs of the Granite City public schools constructed was sold by the Granite City Board of Education Tuesday night for $72,100 to John Sikora of Granite City.

Sikora was the only bidder in the second round of bidding for the sale of the house. Bidding on the first round ranged from $51,200 to $68,500 and the board rejected the bids as being too low. Sikora's first bid had been for $66,199.

Board Member Dewey Melton suggested after the sale bid from Sikora had been opened Tuesday night that the board withhold action until the sale could be discussed in executive session, with the public excluded from the room.

"I don't mind selling it to him, but I also don't mind discussing it," Melton said.

Board Member David Partney objected, saying, "I don't think this should be discussed in executive session in light of what (Madison County State's Attorney) Nicholas Byron did to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. (SIUE has been sued by Byron for alleged violations of the Illinois Open Meetings Act at their executive sessions.)"

Board Member Monroe Weirhen said the disposal of property by the school district is among the items the board has discussed numerous times in closed sessions without any objections from Attorney William Schooley. Attorney William S. Beatty of Schooley's office, who represented the board at the meeting, was asked to check the statutes to determine if disposition of property was among the items allowed to be discussed in closed session.

Beatty was unable to study the statutes sufficiently during the remainder of the public meeting to give the board an opinion.

Normal exceptions to the open meetings act include collective bargaining, property acquisition, lawsuits, disciplinary cases, personnel, matters of professional ethics, and a limited number of other categories, Byron has said.

After the closed session of the school board, one board member told the Press-Record that Beatty was unable to show by statute that property divestment was among the reasons a closed meeting may be held, but advised the board they could rely upon a previous legal opinion from Schooley. If they recalled Schooley saying it was legal.

When the meeting resumed after the executive session, the board members voted unanimously to accept Sikora's bid on purchasing the house.

The house on Hamilton Drive is the third house students in the building trades classes have completed. It required two years to complete.

Proceeds from the sales of the houses are returned to the building trades program so additional construction can be undertaken.

Preliminary plans for a fourth house to be built already are being discussed.

Study future of school insurance

The question whether student insurance will be offered in the Granite City public schools after the upcoming school year was posed to the Board of Education Tuesday night and board members agreed that the program may be dropped due to declining participation.

In his report to the board, Dale C. Rea, assistant to the superintendent, recommended that student insurance be offered for the 1979-80 school year, but that the possibility of eliminating the insurance be reviewed before the 1980-81 school year.

"Participation has declined steadily each year, only 532 students purchased such coverage in the 1978-79 school year and in 1977-78 there were 665. It might be possible to purchase insurance for football players (and other athletes) at a lesser cost from a company not involved with a regular student accident plan," Rea said in his report.

Superintendent of Schools B.J. Davis said the board should realize "a great deal of secretarial and administrative time is spent" on the insurance program, which the school district offers simply as a service for the students.

Board Member Dewey Nelson said that if only 532 students are going to participate, "why not drop it now?"

After the discussion, the board approved Rea's recommendation that school insurance be offered in the upcoming school year from Mutual of Omaha, offered by the Launders Agency of Granite City.

The cost to students under this year's program is $6.75 per year for pre-schoolers through the sixth grade and $12 per year for students in the seventh through 12th grades for coverage while the student is at school.

Student cost under the plan offering 24-hour-per-day coverage is $25 for pre-schoolers through the sixth grade and $36 for students in the seventh through 12th grades.

Inquiry into cause of fire

Granite City police detectives investigating the origin of a fire which caused $23,000 damage to the home of Robert L. Jones, 3119 Rodger Ave., Sunday morning, said this week there is evidence the fire may have been started by an electrical short-circuit.

New livestock rules Saturday; may aid lakes and streams

Operators of livestock feedlots will be under new regulations administered by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency beginning June 30.

The regulations, mandated by the Illinois Pollution Control Board, are designed to curb livestock waste reaching lakes and streams.

Prior to the board's adoption of the regulations, the Illinois EPA investigated problems caused by livestock facilities only on a complaint basis.

The exceptions were annual inspections of facilities operating under an NPDES (National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System) program of the USEPA, or where a fish kill occurred or where there was evidence of other gross water quality violation, according to James F. Frank, agriculture advisor for the IEPA.

Currently there are about 30 feedlot facilities operating under an NPDES permit, based primarily on the number of animal units maintained and because the facility has a discharge.

The new regulations identify a feedlot as any lot maintaining animals a total of 45 days within any 12-month period.

Multiple lots under common ownership will be classed as one operation. Other criteria identify those feedlots that must come into immediate compliance.

The IEPA is preparing for a gradual increase in the number of facilities which will require an NPDES permit. The new regulations eventually will affect all animal feeding operations, whether or not they are required to obtain a permit.

Frank said, "Feedlot operations have been the largest single source of water pollution associated with the handling of livestock waste, he indicated."

The lots have been a continuing source of odor complaints, according to the Public Affairs office of Illinois EPA.

The new regulations affect the selection of site for any new feedlot, control of odor, handling of waste, and the use of any effluent from open feeding floors overflowing lagoons or manure pits that might reach a body of water.

Currently there are six specialists in livestock waste management throughout the regional office of IEPA. This staff will be augmented by new personnel who will work exclusively in explaining the new regulations, making site inspections, providing surveillance and documenting compliance.

Information concerning the new regulation, including what they will require for all facilities, and whether an operation immediately comes under the requirements, may be obtained from any office of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. IEPA offices are located at:

BAC leases Washington School for day classes

Daytime college classes in Granite City may be possible beginning in August under a lease agreement between the Granite City Board of Education and Belleville Area College, approved by the Board of Education Tuesday night.

The agreement calls for BAC to lease Washington School on West 20th Street, which was among three schools retired from service by the Granite City School District at the close of the last school year.

While BAC will not pay rent on the building, it will be responsible for paying for all utilities, insurance, custodial services, maintenance and security for the building and will pay half the cost of replacing defective mechanical equipment during the one-year lease term.

BAC also will have to pay for any renovation required, but must have the approval of the school district before undertaking major projects on the building.

BAC also is charged with "maintaining the building and playground in the condition it now is, fair wear and usage excepted," according to the lease.

The building may not be used for any purpose other than BAC educational programs, it is stipulated.

The BAC Board of Trustees approved the lease at Belleville June 19. With the signatures of the Granite City School Board members, it will become effective this Sunday.

Belleville Area College officials have said that the permanence of having day college classes in Granite City will depend upon acceptance of the classes by residents here.

Both credit and non-credit courses will be taught here and the curriculum will be determined by the number of requests for each type of class, it was explained.

CUT TRUCK TIRES

Harry P. Lyon of St. Joseph, Mo., a driver for Global-Union Truck Line, reported at 1:50 a.m. Tuesday that someone had slashed three rear tires of his truck trailer. He said he saw a man in his late 30s with a bald head near the truck a short time before he discovered the damage.

RON MAHAN AND THE COUNTRY LADS will appear at the Wilson Park ice rink July 2 at 8 p.m. as part of the Granite City Park District's 20th annual July Fourth celebration.

Politics alleged in school hirings

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Allegations that politics played a role in the hiring of a teacher were aired by David Partney, a member of the Granite City Board of Education, during that body's regular meeting Tuesday night.

Following a lengthy executive session, the board returned to open session and Partney stated, "I don't feel we are hiring the best qualified people the administration interviewed."

"I received a call about 6:30 tonight from a very reliable source who said he had been in line at (a local) hardware store and had heard one of the candidates we are hiring tonight told several persons she had been promised by a board member she had the position and that's prohibited," Partney contended.

The comment brought an angry response from Board Member Thomas Miosky, who stated, "I think you are making a false allegation. Bring in the proof. I don't like the grandstanding."

Board Member Monroe Worthen countered Partney's remark, saying, "I also heard someone else promised another candidate she had the job. This is not the first time I've heard this. I have been hiring teachers for too many years to have you swing my vote."

"Go ahead with your Mickey Mouse tricks if you want," Worthen concluded. Miosky also said some of the top candidates were "overqualified" and "priced themselves out of these jobs."

Partney later told the Press-Record that he heard one of the candidates and her father went to a board member's home to discuss her hiring and she was promised the job during that meeting.

He said the source he mentioned earlier heard the candidate talking about the meeting in front of several persons in line at a hardware store.

Partney also noted that of the top four teachers recommended by the administration, the board hired only one and selected two others from alternate names on the list.

Partney, Dewey Melton and George Moore Sr., voted to fill all three teaching vacancies from among the top four while Miosky, Steve Sallich, Worthen and Board President Donald Stucke voted for only one of the top four candidates and two from the alternate list, who were then hired.

"I don't know why we pay the administration to take the time to interview and evaluate these people if we then sit in executive sessions and decide who to hire by politics," Partney said.

"As for Miosky's statement that the best qualified people priced themselves out of jobs, I do not feel there is any better place for us to put our money than into the best teachers we can find for our children. We will have to make cuts in purchasing or elsewhere if we run short, but should not cut our children short," Partney stated.

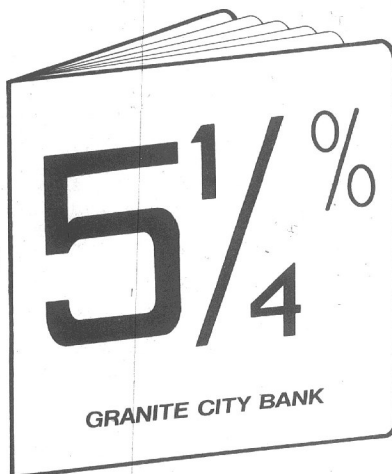

"Besides," he heard Mr. (Tully) Heubner (director of business affairs for the district) say tonight that it looked like we are going to be in pretty fair shape this year financially with the three schools we closed," Partney added.

Addressing himself to Worthen's statement that another candidate had been promised a job, Partney said, "He was talking about me. One of the candidates did call me and say she had been applying for a job for years and had not been hired."

"I did not make her any promises. I went to Gerald Brown (director of personnel for the school district) and asked what this woman's qualifications were. He told me her qualifications were good. That is all I did. She did not get the job," he concluded.

Cahokia to host the state lottery

Residents of Cahokia and the surrounding area will be able to see how thousands of Illinois citizens win cash prizes each week by playing the Illinois State Lottery's weekly games, when the Lottery picks the winning numbers in its Big Pay Day and Treasure Hunt games at noon Thursday, July 5, at the Lottery Regional Office, 4001 Mississippi Ave., Cahokia.

Following the selections, spectators will be invited to play a free game.

The Lottery staff will be at the Lottery Regional Office all day Tuesday, July 3. Lottery personnel will be on hand to explain the current games and revenue distribution, to display equipment used, and to sell tickets.

The Lottery is currently selling its weekly 90-cent Big Pay Day and $1 Treasure Hunt games in addition to the $1 Instant Grand Slam and Money Machine games. Big Pay Day and Treasure Hunt tickets for which winning numbers will be picked Thursday, July 5, will be on sale at the Lottery Regional Office until 11:45 a.m. Tickets for the Lottery's instant Money Machine and Grand Slam game will also be on sale.

Invited to participate are State Senator Kenneth H. Hall, State Representatives Monroe L. Flinn, Celeste M. Stiehl and Wyvetter H. Younger, Mayor Mike King and St. Clair County Board Chairman Victor Canty.

On the average, one in six tickets wins a prize. Players scratch the baseboard on their ticket to see which prize they are going for — $1, $2, $5, $10, $1,000 or $25,000.

Then they scratch the scoreboard to see how many runs they have. If they beat the opponent's score, they win the indicated prize instantly.

Players who have a tie score are entered automatically into the preliminary $1,000,000 drawing. One ticket in 10 is a tie.

Money Machine gives each player three chances to win instant prizes.

Players matching three bells in the same row across win $500; three sevens in the same row across win $100; three cherries in the same row across win $5; two bells in the same row across win $2; and two oranges in the same row win a free ticket. Lottery ticket buyers who match three jackpots in the same row across on their money Machine tickets are jackpot winners and automatically play the giant Money Machine, where they can win from $5,000 to $100,000.

The Lottery's Treasure Hunt game has five 2-digit numbers printed on it. By matching two of the 2-digit numbers, players win a free ticket. Matching three of the 2-digit numbers wins $10; matching four wins $100; and matching five of the 2-digit numbers wins $10,000.

Players can also collect letters printed on the tickets to spell diamond, emerald, silver, pearl and opal.

Players mail correctly spelled jewels to: Treasure Hunt, P.O. Box C-1979, Elmhurst, Ill. 60126.

Whenever 250,000 tickets are sold, one of the five finalists will be randomly chosen at a preliminary drawing from the envelopes received. Those finalists will be separated into the five different jewel categories.

Each jewel will be placed in one of the five corresponding treasure chests. Then one winner will be selected from each of the five treasure chests with prizes as follows:

Diamond wins $25,000; emerald wins $10,000; silver wins $5,000; pearl wins $2,000; and opal wins $1,000.

If any treasure name is not selected at a preliminary drawing, the value of that prize will be added to the total prize amount for the name in the next Treasure Hunt selection.

Players not winning in a Treasure Hunt are automatically entered into the preliminary drawing for the grand prize of $250,000 to be given away at the end of the game.

In the weekly Big Pay Day game, players who match the 4-digit number win $150 and entry into a preliminary drawing for $100,000.

Those matching both the 2- and 3-digit numbers win $5,000 while those matching the 3-digit number win $25.

A 2-digit number match on the Big Pay Day tickets wins $5, and lottery players who match the 1-digit number on their weekly tickets qualify for a preliminary $50,000 Bonanza drawing by sending only one ticket per envelope to $50,000 Bonanza Drawing, Box 4999, Springfield, Ill. 62708.

Cashes same check twice

Three men went to the First National Bank in Madison at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday to cash Terminal Railroad Association pay checks.

After one man got his, the check cashed he grabbed the check from the teller and ran.

The teller told other bank employees what happened as he ran outside and saw the three men leaving together in a van.

Police found the van at the Madison Dairy Master, about one-half block from the bank, and asked where the third man was. Police were told he was dropped off at the Red Crown liquor store, about two blocks from the bank.

The third man, who had allegedly grabbed his $424 check, was picked up at the liquor store where he had just cashed his payroll check the second time.

Police allegedly found $941 on the third man, along with some liquor he had purchased.

Railroad authorities were notified and the three men were released pending further investigation.

Agency expands here; seek more foster, adoptive homes

Anthony Jenkins, regional director for the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, announced Wednesday that his department is adding nine additional workers to work with neglected and abused children in the southern half of Madison County.

"The new workers will be housed in the department's Granite City field office, which is currently serving 335 children, 50 of whom reside in foster care," Jenkins said.

"Whenever possible, we try to work with the family as a unit."

Jenkins explained that removal from the natural home is avoided, unless a child would be in danger if allowed to remain.

Shirley Faber, resource development worker for the local field office, said that additional foster and adoptive homes are needed immediately.

Foster parents have the option of turning down any child referred and are generally not asked to accept children of another race. All foster parents are paid a fee for each child that covers board, clothing and incidental expenses.

Medical, dental and pharmaceutical expenses for foster children are also paid by the state.

Funds are available for direct subsidies to adoptive parents in cases where medical expenses are unusually high due to physical handicaps.

All foster parents receive pre-service and in-service training and regular supervision from department social workers.

For more information, Quad-Cityans may call Shirley Faber at 876-8885. The office is at 1506 Johnson Road.

White Dutch Clover in lawns

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Area Adviser, Horticulture
Some folks plant clover in their lawn and others want to get rid of it.

If you have White Dutch Clover in your lawn, here is some of the good and bad. It is easy to control if you use Mecoprop or Dicamba. 2,4-D will not provide good control.

It often occurs in areas of a lawn where the grass is thin, and may be a better lawn surface than you had before clover moved in.

The flowers and different texture of the leaves produce patches that blemish a good turf. And clover flowers tend to attract bees.

White Dutch Clover is a variety of clover that produces a creeping vine in lawns and pastures. A profusion of white flowers in a patch of dark green clover leaves is the trademark of White Dutch Clover.

Before you decide to wipe out all your clover, take a close look to be sure a fair stand of grass exists among the clover vines.

One application of any broadleaf weed killer that contains Mecoprop (MCP) or Dicamba will give you good control.

Since most broadleaf weed killers are a combination of Carpenters reduce pay scale, cite home building competition

The Southern Illinois Builders Association and the Madison County Carpenters District Council announced Tuesday a new residential agreement intended to make union contractors more competitive in their efforts to bid for home construction.

The agreement will be in effect from May 1, 1979, through July 31, 1980.

The new agreement covers all residential construction in Madison, Bond and Jersey counties and portions of Calhoun, Macoupin, Montgomery and Greene counties.

It was adopted in an effort to stabilize wages, hours and working conditions in order to successfully compete with non-union operations, a spokesman said. He added: "Approval of the agreement should offset some of the bidding advantage which non-union contractors have enjoyed for the past several years. Non-union wage and benefit scales have fallen far below union scales and, as a result, these non-union operations have bid successfully for work."

"The new agreement establishes union scale at $8.20 per hour for journeymen, compared to the old scale of $11.58 per hour."

"The new foreman scale is $8.95 and general foreman scale is $10.45 per hour."

"The new agreement will not, however, affect the wages of any member who has an initiation date prior to May 1, 1979."

Residential construction, as interpreted in the agreement, includes all work in connection with construction, alteration, or such as simple dwellings, row houses, townhouses, and walk-up apartments and related buildings.

Additional terms of the agreement include new overtime definitions.

All overtime work performed in excess of eight hours a day or before 7 a.m. or after 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday — and all work performed over 40 hours per week and on Saturday — will be paid at the rate of time and a half.

Saturday work may be voluntarily performed at the straight-time rate providing eight hours or more of work has been lost in the previous week due to inclement weather.

One other key aspect of the agreement is in the area of training.

An "improver," an employee who does not possess the necessary skills or qualifications required of a journeymen carpenter, is recognized as learning such skills by working on the job site, and will be paid at an hourly rate that corresponds to his work experience and skills at the carpentry trade.

Training sessions have also been established, as per agreement, by SIBA and the Carpenters.

SIBA President Byron Farrell said, "I am encouraged to see that the carpenters have an open mind and are making an effort to re-capture the market that has been lost over the past few years."

John Ubaudi, Madison County Carpenters District Council secretary-treasurer, said, "The agreement has been well received. In fact, in the early days of the agreement, the reception has been beyond belief."

"The Granite City area alone has gone to 90 percent union housing."

"We look forward to even more work for the members."

Light attendance at hearing

Increased assistance to senior citizens in home repairs, increased police protection and expanded recreational facilities were among the suggestions voiced by Madison residents Tuesday evening.

A public hearing was held at 6:30 p.m. at the Madison City Hall to allow residents to express their views on how the city might spend approximately $200,000 in revenue sharing funds.

The meeting was conducted by Al Hudzik city comptroller.

Aldermen attending were Thomas Gordon, chairman of the city finance committee, Don Reeves and Paul Ashford.

A second public meeting will be held prior to July 31, at which time the city budget for 1979-80 will be presented. It will include the proposed use of federal revenue funds.

City aldermen expressed disappointment over lack of citizen interest as only four residents were present, even after the meeting had been announced publicly several times.

1905 "ROOTS" of Rotary International date back to the first club, located in Chicago. Celebrating the 75th anniversary in February 1980 will be clubs like the Granite City Rotary Club, which noted the upcoming event at its 1979-80 installation dinner Friday evening.

The Four-Way Test of Rotary International is an ideal that guides the business and personal lives of Rotarians around the world, including those in the Granite City and Madison-Venice clubs.

Granite City Rotarians, formed in 1904, discussed the pending February 1980 observance of RI's 75th anniversary during their club's annual installation dinner Friday night at Sunset Hills Country Club.

Paul Harris founded Rotary in Chicago in 1905 and his organization emphasizes the Four-Way Test:

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build good will and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Rotary believes that the above test "of the things we think, say or do can be applied profitably in relations with others in the home, community, business, national and international life, particularly to proposed plans, policies, statements and advertising in business and the professions; to proposed legislation in government; and to relations between teachers and students in the schools."

A small-town native born in the big city, Harris established Rotary as not only a luncheon club but as a way to build friendships among business and professional men. Community service and international service soon became the primary activities.

Paul Harris Fellowships, recognizing efforts to foster international contacts and good will, were presented Friday night to Donald Shaffner and new Granite City Rotary President Darryl Slater.

Past presidents introduced besides Shaffner were Edwin G. Schmitt, Ernest Karandjeff Sr., Kienard Kerch, Edward Meng, Glenn Abenroth, Warren Decatur, Carl Mathias, John Folsom, A. H. Froemling, Joseph Hassler and Walter Milton. Past district Rotary governors recognized were George T. Wilkins Sr., Kenneth Evers and Lamont Hedinger. A special guest was Alvin Temple Potentate Richard H. Ervay.

Area has proven itself, National Steel believes

A proven record of labor-management cooperation in Southern Illinois' construction industry was instrumental in National Steel's decision to expand and improve its Granite City Steel plant, company officials said last week.

"If we can make this $100 million project go as well as we expect it to, there will be more work to be done here," said Paul Walter, director of industrial relations for Granite City Steel. His comments were made at a luncheon marking a labor-management pledge of cooperation on the modernization program.

The pledge was made under the auspices of IMAGE, an organization of 20 labor and 17 management groups which works toward betterment of the construction industry climate in Southern Illinois.

Robert A. Georgine, president of the Building and Construction Trades Department, AFL-CIO, made a special trip to the luncheon to congratulate labor and management on their accomplishments.

"This gathering represents the ideal. It shows that when all segments of the construction industry work together, the construction industry works," said Georgine. "Since IMAGE began a year and a half ago, there have been no major work stoppages in this area."

Georgine added, "This type of arrangement benefits not only business and labor, but also the community at large."

"IMAGE has shown that this kind of cooperation is possible in Southern Illinois and the economy in this area should be grateful for the efforts of all of the IMAGE participants in restoring confidence in this area."

Stanley A. Garst, general supervisor of labor relations for Granite City Steel, estimated that about 350 building tradesmen will be employed at the peak of construction on the company's modernization project, to be completed in December 1980.

The work to be performed includes construction of a continuous casting operation and conversion of the two basic oxygen furnace pressure vessels to bottom blowing operation, as well as several projects currently under construction.

The modernizations will allow for more energy-efficient production of steel at the plant and will also provide greater control of the metallurgy for a higher quality steel product, according to Garst.

He said the improvement will allow for a net increase of employment at the plant, but its exact employment impact is not yet known. There is a staff of 4,700.

Saving energy in the kitchen

BY CATHERINE R. MAUCK

Too hot to be in the kitchen?

There are several things you can do to stay out of that hot kitchen as much as possible, save energy, and still avoid the cost of eating out. Here are some tips:

1. Sometimes it is more practical to cook several dishes at once instead of reheating the oven several times during the day. Two or three dishes are to be cooked at similar temperatures (225, 350 and 375), pick the average temperature (350) and cook all three, making a small allowance in cooking time.

The oven (which is more efficient than the range top) can be used in this manner to prepare the entire meal.

2. Preparing multiple recipes for meals like spaghetti sauce, soups and stews that take a long time to cook can save energy. Then refrigerate or freeze for future use.

3. By dividing a skillet with foil inserts, several dishes can be prepared simultaneously.

4. When baking or cooking foods with extended cooking times, try to avoid "peak hours" (8-11 a.m. and 4-8 p.m.) are usually the peak hours.

During peak hours, utility companies often use less efficient means to provide for the higher demand for electricity.

Remember that for each degree the appliances heat up the kitchen, your home's air conditioning system has to work harder to remove that excess heat.

6. Preheating the oven is often unnecessary and may be a waste of energy. When preheating is required, or when baking time is only a few minutes, avoid preheating for longer than 10 minutes.

Use a timer as a reminder that the oven is heated. Surface units should not be preheated. Put pots and pans on the range top before the heat is turned on to avoid wasting heat.

The tips on keeping cool while cooking will help the whole family keep cool this summer.

Nurses executive program

A continuing education program for nurse executive development was announced last week by the American Hospital Association and the University of Illinois College of Nursing.

"The nurse executive development program is designed to increase the management knowledge and skills of nurse executives in health care institutions and allow them to do so while remaining in their current positions," said Gail Warden, AHA executive vice president. "The program was developed in response to requests for more continuing professional education for nurse managers."

Primary responsibility for the instructional content of the program lies with the University of Illinois College of Nursing faculty.

The instructional content presents theories and principles of organization and is designed to assist the participant in applying the theories and principles to the operation of a health care facility's department of nursing service.

A goal of the program is to enable nurse managers to provide better leadership in their individual institutions and participate more fully in overall hospital management decisions.

Helen Grace, dean of the University of Illinois College of Nursing, said, "The college has committed itself to building bridges between nursing education and nursing practice. It is exciting, therefore, to pool our resources with those of the American Hospital Association. We are confident that the nurse executive program, by strengthening nursing leadership in health care facilities, will result in a superior quality of patient care."

The program will be offered to the more than 1,000 senior nurse executives in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin. If successful, it may be offered annually and expanded to other regions of the country.

The first class, with 55 participants, begins the week of Sept. 16 at the Champaign-Urbana campus. The cost is $1,500, which includes an initial two-week residential session.

The instruction which will be introduced in the two-week residential session will be expanded in 10 independent study projects including nursing service goals, nursing standards, personnel management, budget and finance.

One project will be completed per month and an assignment will be returned to the faculty author for evaluation and comment.

Faculty-participant communication is to be encouraged by mail and telephone.

There will be three interim seminars and a final concluding program during which participants will present the management development projects they have implemented in their institutions.

GC bus to McDonnell

More than 50 Bi-State Development Agency bus lines, most of them in Missouri, will be changing slightly on Monday, July 2. Bi-State usually adjusts its bus schedules in June, but because of the extension of the school year for City of St. Louis students, the service changes were delayed.

Although most of the changes involve only slight time revisions, several lines will undergo route changes. Two of the routes, the Wilmore Park-MSL Express and Mehlville-UMSL Express, will cease operating July 2, but are scheduled to begin again in the fall.

McDonnell-Douglas employees will benefit from one of Bi-State's service changes. Certain trips of the Granite City-Hazelwood Express will be extended to the Brown Campus area.

Although the Forest Park Summer Swinger buses will not be operating this summer, visitors to the zoo and other attractions can take advantage of an extension of the McPherson bus route.

Beginning July 7, McPherson buses will travel into Forest Park on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays during the summer.

From Clayton Road and Skinker, the buses will operate via Skinker, Wells Drive, Government Drive, Washington Drive, Lagoon Drive and Union, where they will travel to Waterman and resume their regular route.

To request bus information, Quad-Cityans may write Bi-State's Information Service, 3369 Park Ave., St. Louis 63110, or call toll free 875-4144.

Extra holiday patrols on Interstate highways

The Illinois State Police will again participate in the national Combined Accident Reduction Effort (Operation CARE) during the second of the three summer holiday periods in 1979.

The program, initiated in 1977 by Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio, has been expanded to include all 48 contiguous states.

State Police Superintendent Lynn Baird has designated all Interstate highways in Illinois as CARE routes for the Fourth of July holiday period.

The program seeks to demonstrate harmonious interstate cooperation in traffic enforcement and accident reduction between states during high traffic volume national holidays. Through the use of high visibility patrols on the Interstates, the state police will endeavor to encourage voluntary compliance with the 55 mile per hour speed limit as well as adherence to other laws, including improper lane usage, following too closely and improper passing.

Troopers will be especially alert for drivers under the influence of alcohol. Capt. Albert Bertagnoli of the Maryville District said, "The bottom line in this operation is a goal to maintain an efficient movement of traffic while reducing accidents."

We want to reverse the trend of escalating traffic fatalities. Operation CARE gives us a chance to show the public we care about their safety. We hope motorists care enough to slow down and drive safely."

RICHARD ROBERTS
Steelworker heads United Way division

Richard G. Roberts, a member and immediate past president of United Steelworkers of America Local 4804, at the Consolidated Aluminum Corporation in Madison, has been named division Chairman and Government Employees Division, Tri-Cities Area United Way campaign.

The division includes employees of the State of Illinois, Madison County and the townships of Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice.

United Way General Campaign Chairman George Knecht and Government Employees Group Vice Chairman George Amisch Jr. made the announcement that Roberts has accepted the division chairmanship.

Varied flood aid

Residents of 29 Illinois counties who have serious needs or undue expenses caused by winter-spring flooding may qualify for federal or state disaster relief.

Illinois Public Aid Director Arthur F. Quern today reminded the public that the deadline is June 29 for assistance from the Illinois Individual and Family Grant Program and for federal temporary housing assistance.

Since early May, when President Carter declared the 29 counties a disaster area, the Department of Public Aid has received over 650 applications for aid.

The state-administered Individual and Family Grant Program, which is paid for with federal and state funds, provides cash assistance to flood victims. Grant amounts are based on individual needs.

Personal property such as furniture and appliances as well as structural repairs to damaged homes are provided in some cases.

The federal program for temporary housing assistance arranges shelter for those whose homes were damaged. Limited home repairs to bring flooded homes up to habitable condition are available to those who qualify.

Persons wishing to apply for flood relief may call 1-800-322-2641, toll free. Applicants will be directed to the nearest emergency relief office or will be mailed applications.

Residents of the following counties may be eligible for assistance: Alexander, Brown, Bureau, Calhoun, Cass, DeWitt, Fulton, Greene, Jackson, Jersey, LaSalle, Macon, Madison, Marshall, Mason, Monroe, Morgan, Peoria, Pike, Pulaski, Putnam, Randolph, Rock Island, St. Clair, Schuyler, Scott, Tazewell, Union and Woodford.

Logjam worries Quad-Cityans as legislature nears adjournment; school, road, tax, other issues undecided

Will Rogers used to say the only safe times were when the legislature had adjourned. We wouldn't go quite that far, but no doubt many Illinoisans will be breathing easier after their General Assembly has concluded its deliberations on Saturday night, June 30.

State legislators have immense power to help or harm a community and region, and particularly this year.

Constitutional and judicial elimination of the corporate personal property tax has left school systems and other local-level governmental agencies in a potentially severe squeeze. Some sort of replacement tax is likely, but passage is being delayed until the final hours of the six-month session. And the eventual hasty action may prove detrimental to the Quad-City area, which has been more dependent on corporate taxes than most communities. Latest proposal is a Senate-passed plan to raise the state income tax on business 2.85 percent, from 4 to 6.85.

Also delayed until the final part of the legislative session is action on state road building and maintenance program for 1979-80. It might be asked: "In just why Illinois needs roads, what with the shortage and high cost of auto and truck fuel. But with gasoline prices climbing by nickels, dimes and quarters, it will seem ridiculous if Assembly members block the one and a half cents per gallon tax boost that Governor Thompson says can assure many needed and desired highway improvements."

Another issue of intense local interest is legislators' apparent intent to raise the minimum age to drink beer and wine from 19 to 21. The younger age has been in effect since 1973. Senators voted 35-20 yesterday for such an increase, which awaits House action. Representatives earlier came close to adopting a drinking-at-21 bill that would have allowed home delivery to continue at 19, but the governor says he favors 21 and would veto any non-uniform, 21-19 legislation.

In another emotionally-charged issue, senators enacted 37-12 an end to the sales tax on food and certain medical products. The House seems favorably disposed, but the plan faces a certain veto by Gov. Thompson, who says the $600 million loss in annual revenue would unbalance the state budget.

Senators appropriated $156,500 Wednesday to enable the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to study the impact on Madison and St. Clair counties of new air quality standards said to be so inflexible that nearly all new and expanded businesses would be barred.

The Senate also approved 35-18 a $202,000 yearly appropriation for the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority, an SIUE-based agency studying ways of utilizing the Columbia-Waterloo tract proposed for airport development.

Many other topics are poised for final legislative action this weekend, with countless documents not yet cleared for forwarding to the governor due to minor House-Senate disagreement of the need for technical revisions or required procedural steps.

Quad-Cityans and other Illinoisans cannot help but be a bit apprehensive because of the pre-deadline performance in past years of legislators forced to act on amendments within a time frame that prevented them from fully understanding what they were voting on.

We'll review in Monday's Press-Record what was done and what was left undone.

Sr. citizens have other places, youngsters need park facilities

To the Editor:
It was with both shock and dismay that I read the article in the June 25 Press-Record entitled, "Venice Park Board rejects seniors' use of building."

Shocked that a newspaper with such fine stature as yours would permit an article that was so obviously biased, opinionated, slanted and political to be passed off as straight news item.

Biased that the article was written by a reporter for whom I have always had great admiration. He has enjoyed an excellent reputation for good, solid, fair and accurate reporting.

Of course, nobody's perfect, but since the article was so one-sided one cannot help but question whether he is not letting himself become a "tool" for those interests who would create political situations for their own gain.

Perhaps in the future, the best interest of readers and the newspaper would be served if such articles were framed in brackets and clearly labeled the "writer's viewpoint."

As for the "issue" itself, as to whether the senior citizens of Venice should step aside temporarily for the children's sake, it seems to me that it is not really no issue at all.

First of all, the seniors are being asked to relinquish use of the building only for a brief, eight-week period.

Secondly, the seniors have many other places they can use, such as churches, church buildings, other public buildings, and other places where senior citizens congregate.

Yet, they very young children, who far outnumber the senior citizens, have absolutely no place else to go.

Their young, bright minds need all the indoor facilities to absorb the art, cultural and intellectual stimulation those young kids will never get anywhere else, not even in the schools.

Their young bodies, so full of energy, also need the space provided by the park itself, so that their bodies and minds will grow at the same time.

It is "against" senior citizens, as the reporter had implied in the article and profoundly stated when I asked him why he had written such a political article.

The "problem," if indeed there is one, is how to make the best use of limited resources.

Eight weeks is such a short time to sacrifice for the sake of young children, that it seems that the seniors would have done so without being asked — especially when it is considered that they had other places to go, and the children had none.

Older citizens often wonder why younger people treat them with such disrespect. One reason certainly is because older people have an image of being stubborn and selfish, and this case is a classic example.

When she looked out the neighbor's windows at her mobile home about one-half hour later, she saw some lights were on. When she investigated, the same man was standing across the street, she said.

Glass in a kitchen window had been broken and the frame around the window was tried to gain entry. Nothing was taken, the victim said.

She gave officers the name the man gave her, which led to Chromister's arrest.

The generation gap between the young and old has been further widened by this "staged" political protest. For leadership and even poorer representation have created a problem where there was none.

A thousand cheers for those Park Board members who stood up for the children.

It took a lot of courage, dedication, concern and foresight to stand up for those who can't vote, who can't contribute to any election campaign, who can't work for you on election day, who can't do anything but give you a smile, a hug and a hello because you have made them so happy by giving them a summer they will never forget.

To my good friend, the reporter, perhaps you will consider taking your pencil and camera down to the Park Board summer program and report to the community about the quality, impact and need for the program.

If you do so, you will help a community come together, young and old, black and white, concerned citizens and special interest groups, rather than tearing us apart, young and old, black and white, concerned citizens and special political interests.

Tax bills ready

Granite City taxpayers may expect their real estate tax bills in the mail early next week, and may make payments to the office of Nick Petrillo, township tax collector and city treasurer, in the city hall, Petrillo announced Wednesday.

Petrillo said he picked up the tax books and the tax bills, which now are prepared by the township treasurer's office, this week, and his office is preparing the bills for mailing so that taxpayers should begin receiving them early next week.

Personal property tax bills were sent out a week ago and payments now are being made on these at the treasurer's office and at all Granite City banks during regular business hours, Petrillo said.

Real estate tax payments also will be accepted at all local banks after the bills are mailed, he added.

Petrillo said Granite City taxpayers are being billed for a total of $4,325,387 in personal property taxes and $8,222,343 in real estate taxes, a total of $12,547,730.

Township Collectors in Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice Townships also are expected to receive their bills and tax books by early next week.

A tentative ordinance was adopted by the board of construction of sanitary sewers in subdivisions within the special service area of Chouteau, Nameoki and Venice townships was presented to members of the Madison County Special Sewer Committee during its regular meeting Wednesday night in the Pontoon Beach Village Hall.

Stanley J. Lucas, a subdivision developer who has publicly disagreed with the proposed ordinance, was present at the meeting and asked what he is going to have to do to get the committee or county board to sign an application he must submit to the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency in order to have plans approved for sewers in the Sixth Addition to Town and Country East.

He was told that he had to submit certain documents to the committee's attorney, Harry Hartman, which Hartman has indicated they will not accept. Committee members also indicated they want a legal opinion from Hartman on the matter.

Lucas is contending that the committee has been stalling on his application, because he has refused to use the sewer district's engineer, Ed Juneau, to design the subdivision.

next week. A schedule of collections in those townships is expected to be announced early in the week.

Petrillo said he will ask Michael Henkhaus, county treasurer, to permit a 60-day collection period this year, instead of the usual 30-day local collection. As town collector, Petrillo may distribute tax bills collected by his office during the local collection period.

He noted that most taxing districts are financially pressed at this time of the year and that he will make distributions as soon as possible after tax payments start coming in.

Sanitary district pays workers with EPA funds

The Metro-East Sanitary District met another payroll Tuesday, but trustees said they don't know where the next one is coming from.

The district received a reimbursement check of $54,000 from the Environmental Protection Agency for work done in repair of the Cahokia sanitary sewer line and the funds were used to pay $44,000 of 36 employees.

The payroll was approved a week ago and another payroll will be due in another week. No further reimbursement funds are expected because the district hasn't had the money to pay workers on the sewer repair job. If no work is done, no funds are received from EPA.

Receipt of the EPA funds prevented employees from cashing paychecks at the Cahokia Bank under a loan plan that would give the workers 75 percent of their pay. The other 25 percent would be paid after the sanitary district paid off the original 75 percent at the bank.

District trustees in a meeting Tuesday also discussed a proposal that several years old—that giving the Monsanto Pumping station to the U.S. Corps of Army Engineers. Several years ago, the district tried to give the station to the village of Sauget, but the Army Corps ruled the district could not do that. The Army Corps built the pumping station and operated it until 1972 when it was given to the district.

Police investigated a report of gasoline siphoning at 17th Street and Edison Avenue at 12:35 a.m. today and found two young men and a 15-year-old girl near a car, pouring gasoline from a jug into the gas tank.

Police checked the area, but were unable to locate the auto the gasoline may have been taken from.

The girl was charged with a curfew violation and the young men were charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

At 4 a.m. today, police were told gasoline was being siphoned from autos in the 2400 block of Delmar Ave.

An auto with the headlights turned off was seen in the alley behind 2400 Delmar Ave., and drove away when the police car approached. It was stopped at 24th Street and Cleveland Boulevard.

Police alleged the car's gasoline cap was on the roof of the car and the driver had strong smell of gasoline on his hands and clothing. They also alleged he admitted taking five gallons of gasoline from a blue 1963 Chevrolet parked in the 2400 block of Delmar Ave.

Anthony Shamlin, 18, of 2400 Delmar Ave., was arrested and officers returned to his home for evidence.

Behind the house, officers allegedly found Thomas G. Thomas III, 19, of 2407 Delmar Ave., and David R. Williams, 17, of 2306 Delmar Ave., a five-gallon gasoline can full of gas, a garden hose with gasoline on it and a silver and black gas can.

The two and Shamlin were charged with theft and were taken to the Granite City jail.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled 5-2 Wednesday that employers voluntarily may provide special treatment in hiring, promoting and training minority workers.

Their regular shifts in the ambulance service.

They completed classroom training in September and, after passing a state examination required at that stage of training, began clinical training in October. From then until last January they were involved in weekly eight-hour shifts in the hospital's emergency room, intensive care unit and operating room.

By January this year, the six trainees conducted around-the-clock paramedic operations, operating from an ambulance based at the hospital. From then until May they volunteered their time for 12 hours a day, twice a week, to provide 24-hour coverage to the Wood River and Alton areas.

Parents said the paramedic unit will operate on a 24-hour basis with two men to each eight-hour shift.

Meanwhile, he said, two other EMTs are assigned to begin training at the Wood River Hospital to provide backup support for the local program once it is initiated.

Tri-City beats Glen Carbon

GRANITE CITY — It wasn't done the easy way, but Tri-City Post 113's American Legion baseball team finally broke out of its slump here last night with a come-from-behind 3-2 victory over arch-rival Glen Carbon Post 485.

The victory for Tri-City ended a skid which saw it lose six out of its last seven games. Tri-City scored two unearned runs late in the game and held off a last-inning rally by Glen Carbon to take the win and raise its won-lost record in the District 12 North Division to 6-5. The game was played at Granite City South's Field, but Glen Carbon was the home team.

Glen Carbon's record is 6-4. Tri-City gained revenge for its 3-0 loss at the hands of Glen Carbon earlier this season.

The hard-luck "loser" for Glen Carbon was first Steve Doty. Despite giving up just one earned run, he was tagged with the loss. The ace of the Granite City North staff during the spring has yet to win his first American Legion game this summer. But he deserved a better fate, according to Glen Carbon manager Art Jovi. "Doty deserves better than what he got tonight," said Jovi. "He pitched a pretty good ball game. But we weren't playing as good a defense behind him as we are capable of." Jovi could have been referring to the three errors committed by his team. One, a routine grounder to second baseman Tom Greco, scooted between his legs, allowing Tri-City's second run of the game to cross the plate in the fifth inning.

But the story of the game was hustle — on the part of Tri-City. On the error by Greco, Tri-City shortstop Rich Cope scored all the way from second base. He was followed by Jeff Stamper's base hit to left field after of Tri-City first baseman Jim Thurmon would have been the third out of the inning.

"We don't score if Cope isn't hustling all the way," said Tri-City manager Kirk Champion. "If he hadn't been going hard all the way, it's a different ball game."

Tri-City received a good pitching performance from Al Yount. He scattered four hits and went the distance to pick up the victory.

But Yount did have his moments. In the first inning, Glen Carbon shortstop Bob Batey started the game off with a clean single to centerfield. That hit was followed by Jeff Stamper's base hit to left field after

Batey had stolen second base. Stamper and Batey then combined for an attempted double-steal. Tri-City pitcher Steve Ficker threw to second in an effort to get Stamper, but threw the ball over everybody's heads and in to centerfield. Batey scored on the error.

Glen Carbon coasted along, looking confident that it had wrapped up its second victory over Tri-City of the season when the fourth inning rolled around.

After right fielder Bob Stegmeier popped out, third baseman Jeff Parker walked and stole second and then, after left fielder Jim Lewis struck out, Jeff Tretter blasted a two-out double to deep left-centerfield, scoring Parker. The Tri-City bench erupted. "This thing (the slump) is over," one player shouted. "This baby's all over with."

In the fifth inning, Tri-City tried to make believers out of Glen Carbon. Cope reached

SLU signs Warfield

ST. LOUIS — Former Granite City South standout Eldon Warfield has signed a National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) letter-of-intent to play baseball at St. Louis University next season, the Press-Record has learned.

Warfield, a 1977 graduate of South, originally signed a letter-of-intent to play at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He played there his freshman year, seeing considerable action for Coach Roy Lee at the third base position. Last school year, Warfield transferred to Jefferson Junior College in Missouri, where he was a starter.

Earlier this spring, Warfield announced plans to enroll at Dallas Baptist College next season, but switched to SLU.

Warfield, who can play practically any position on the field, will probably be a shortstop at SLU, in addition to possibly seeing some action as a pitcher, according to SLU Sports Information Director Dick O'Connor.

Warfield was a third baseman-pitcher for Coach Conrad "Babe" Champion while playing for him at GCHS South and Tri-City American Legion Post 113. He helped lead Tri-City to ELDON WARFIELD the American Legion state championship game in 1978. He played for Mercer's Tech.

Inter-City League team last summer.

As a third baseman for Jefferson last season, Warfield hit a respectable .301.

Warfield received a partial scholarship to SLU, but terms weren't available. He will be playing for SLU Head Coach Lyle Reuss, a native of Belleville, when he reports to fall practice in September.

Last season, St. Louis U. had a 15-28 won-lost record. It is an NCAA Division I school and competes in the Metro Conference with such schools as Florida State, Memphis State and Georgia Tech.

Monday Legion action

Glen Carbon bats are alive against Cahokia

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

CAHOKIA — In its American Legion baseball game against Cahokia, Monday night, Glen Carbon found a solution to a problem that has followed it from the beginning of the season.

It was back to basics, as Glen Carbon tapped its offensive potential and beat Cahokia 10-4.

"I think everybody's back in the groove now," Glen Carbon coach Art Jovi said. "Dick Awalt and Larry Burns have missed some games, but they're back now, and I think everybody's ready."

Glen Carbon's re-discovered offensive punch delivered 12 hits to produce its 10 runs, but five Cahokia errors eased the way.

The hitting and the errors started in the second inning, when Glen Carbon scored to break on top.

Errors reached on an error by Cahokia's pitcher Scott Haberl. He went to second when Bob Ford hit into a force play at third, then scored on pitcher Greg Faulkner's double. Faulkner's hit was a fly to short-left field. Cahokia's outfielders lost the pop fly in the lights.

Glen Carbon's five-run third pretty much decided the outcome of the game. Three consecutive hits led off the inning and produced three runs. The third hit, Mike Robertson's triple, drove in two. Glen Carbon's two other runs in the inning were produced by there Cahokia errors.

Robertson singled again in the fourth, driving in Dennis Page, who had bunted his way to first.

In the fifth, Ford singled to drive in Burns and Awalt. Glen Carbon finally finished its scoring in the sixth with a single run, scored by Bob Batey. Jeff Stamper's single provided the impetus.

One of the few Glen Carbon batters to go hitless against Cahokia was Tom Greco. A 400-plus hitter in high school, Greco has seen his average take a dive recently. "Greco's attitude was kind of bad before," Jovi said. "But I think he's straightened out now. Tonight, he hit the ball hard almost everytime, but it was

The next Mid-American tournament will be July 28 and 29 at Lake Shelbyville.

Paddlers make a splash

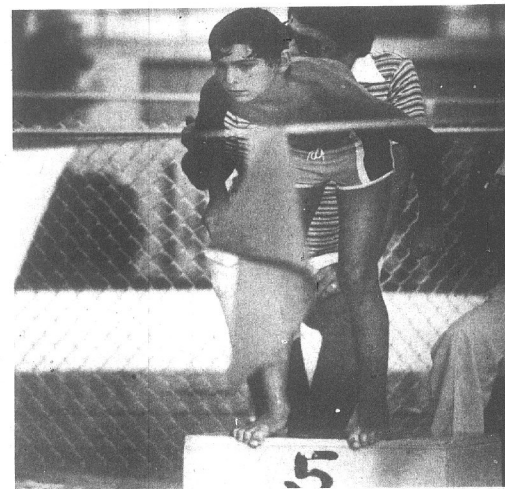

EDWARDSVILLE — The Paddlers swimming and diving team of Granite City started its summer season with a splash here Tuesday.

The Granite Cityans defeated Sunset Hills' club 387-187 here. The meet's results were never in question after the first few events.

With the swimmers taking victory after victory, the divers doing likewise, it gave the Paddlers' coaches something to be optimistic about for the coming season.

There were many exciting moments, as teammates cheered on teammates during the races. Young and old alike joined in.

Even though you probably didn't get wet, you may have heard the big splash Tuesday night...as Paddlers started their 1979 season.

Champion named to Wichita post

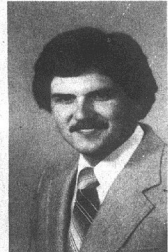

WICHITA, Kan. — Granite Cityan Brett Champion has been named as ticket Manager-Executive Director "SASO" (Shocker Athletic Scholarship Organization) for Wichita State University. SWU Athletic Director Ted Bredehoff made the announcement.

Champion is the son of Conrad (Babe) and Sue Champion of Granite City. He began his new duties Monday.

Champion comes to Wichita State from his position as a sales representative for Proctor and Gamble Distributing Company in the St. Louis area. Previous to that he served as assistant business manager for the Southern Illinois University at Carbondale Men's Athletic Department.

"Brett will bring a combination of experience in both business and athletics with him," commented Bredehoff. "This makes him ideally suited for working with our ticket operation and with our booster organizations."

The announcement of Champion's appointment fills the voids left by the elevation of Vickie Peters from Ticket Manager to Assistant Athletic Director-Finance and Operations and the resignation of former SASO Executive Director Mike Needleman.

BRETT CHAMPION

right at somebody." While Glen Carbon was flexing its bat-muscle, Faulkner was scattering Cahokia hits.

Through the first five innings, Cahokia had only four hits. One of those came in the third and represented Cahokia's only run to that point. Chris Sirtak, Cahokia's center fielder, connected with a Faulkner fast ball and sent it over the right-center field fence.

Yount explained the home run was just a mistake. "He (Faulkner) probably just lost his concentration, and got the ball up," he said.

Faulkner had little more trouble until the sixth, when Cahokia came up with three more runs. With two out,

Cahokia's Bob Tenholder drove in Chuck McQuire with a double. Three consecutive Glen Carbon errors produced two more runs and put runners at second and third.

A wild-pitch strike loaded the bases for Cahokia, but Faulkner induced Randy Ladyman to ground out to the second baseman, ending the threat and the inning.

DIVING BACK into first last night is Glen Carbon shortstop Bob Batey. He got back just ahead of the tag by Tri-City first baseman Jim Thurmon. Tri-City came from behind for a 3-2 victory.

T-C falls despite Lindsey

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE - This much at least, regarding baseball, is simple: if you don't score runs, you don't win.

American Legion pitcher
Terry Lindsey of Tri-City knew only too well the truth in that statement. He found out about it again Tuesday in Tri-City's 3-0 loss to Edwardsville.

Lindsey allowed
Edwardsville only two hits, but Edwardsville turned those two hits, along with two Tri-City errors into three unearned runs.

Still, three runs isn't unsurmountable. But Tri-City backed up Lindsey's strong pitching with only one hit.
Lindsey's ERA is now about .690.

Tri-City coach Kirk Champion said, "But his record is 2-2. That shows how we've been pitching. But when you only got one hit in a game, your not going to beat anybody."

Part of the problem, according to Champion, is the caliber of the pitching his team has faced this year.

"We keep seeing people's best pitchers," Champion said. "We get the tough pitching because people come out to get us. We've been successful in the past, but I don't think our guys have a feeling for that tradition. We're 6-10, and that's not very good."

Edwardsville's best pitcher, Jim Holecek, a hard-
on the mound against Tri-City Tuesday.

In his complete-game performance, Holecek set down 11 Tri-City batters with strike-outs. He allowed only four base runners, three on walks, and one when Kevin Sykes singled in the third.

The hit kept Sykes above the 300 mark, the only Tri-City player at that level.
Holecek, with his tall stature, delivering blazing fastballs, posed an intimidating figure against Tri-City. This, according to Champion, is problem for a hitter.

"I think so much of hitting is mental," he said. "If you believe you can hit, you'll probably do it. But until we start taking the initiative at the plate, we're going to have problems."

"We've tried a lot of things to bring us around, but nothing has seemed to work.
We're just too good hitters to have only one guy hitting—300."

Offense, however, wasn't Tri-City's only problem against Edwardsville. Key errors produced all of Edwardsville's runs.

In the first, Jamie Semanisin led off with a single for Edwardsville. He was sacrificed to second, and scored on Tri-City's Jeff Parker's error.

Then in the third, Dennis Whitworth walked, was bunted to second, reached third on an infield out, then scored on a wild pitch.

Whitworth walked again in the sixth. This time, attempting to steal second, he wound up at third, when the throw from Tri-City catcher Mark Linhart went into center field. He scored on a bad-bounce grounder to the second baseman off the bat of Bob McManus.

Charged with burglary of mother's home

Mark R. Baker, 18, of 2635 rear Madison Ave., was arrested at his home at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday and was charged Wednesday with burglary in an informational document issued by the Madison County state's attorney's office.

It is alleged that between 7:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Tuesday, he stole a pistol from a purse hidden in his mother's home, which is on the front of the lot where Baker was staying. His mother, Mrs. Leah Baker, said she had left windows unlocked and believes entry was gained by removing a screen and crawling through a window.

She said the gun was well hidden and only someone who knew where it was could have found it.

Officers then obtained permission to search the house on the rear of the lot and alleged finding the pistol under the sofa.

A judge set Baker's bond at $2,000 at 5:15 p.m. Tuesday and he was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville at 10:15 p.m. Wednesday.

It took four workmen to place the welder between the rails.

Fields said he found the rail had been cut through by the thief.

GC spending exceeds general fund revenue

By HARRY BARNES
of the Press-Record

Operating expenditures of three of Granite City's largest departments exceeded available revenue in the general fund by a total of $34,338 during the 1978-79 fiscal year that ended April 30, according to an annual financial report compiled by City Clerk Robert Stevens and City Treasurer Nick Petrillo.

The report, released to City Council members last week, shows that the police, fire and street departments spent a total of $2,849,047 for all purposes during the fiscal period that began May 1, 1978, and ended April 30 this year.

While the general fund shows deficits in operating expenses against available income for all three departments, Stevens explained that the deficits are not as great as they appear because the expenses of all three departments are supplemented by federal revenue sharing funds.

The revenue available to these departments under a separate federal revenue sharing budget, is not reflected in the expenditures shown in the general fund report, Stevens said.

On the basis of revenue in the general fund, the police department overspent its 1978-79 available income by $165,173, the report shows.

That department, the report asserts had total income of $942,491. This included $2,675 balance at the beginning of the year, $334,816 in receipts and $605,017 in funds transferred from other accounts, primarily the state income tax and sales tax accounts.

The police department during the fiscal year spent a total of $1,107,664 for all purposes—salaries, equipment, supplies, materials and other costs. The total expenditures also were $195,834 in excess of the original city budget approved for the police department last year.

The City Council, however, enacted several ordinances providing budget amendments during the year, resolving instances of excesses over the original budget.

Last year's federal revenue sharing budget provided $85,494 for salaries in the police department, as well as $51,750 for new cars and other equipment. When these funds are applied against the general fund expenses, the deficit reflected in the general fund report are reduced substantially.

The fire department during the last fiscal year had income of $835,005 available in general fund accounts, but spent a total of $947,210, according to the report.

This, fire department expenses were $112,204 over the amount of revenue available for that department in general fund accounts. Records show that total expenditures also were $141,750 above the $885,460 appropriated in the original budget bill a year ago.

The fire department account started the fiscal year with a deficit of $2,974 from the previous year, but had receipts of $285,716 and transfers from other accounts totaling $552,264, providing the total available revenue of $835,005.

Like the police department, the fire department also received supplemental funds of $95,494 in the federal revenue sharing budget last year. Another $6,000 in revenue sharing funds also was provided for equipment and $35,000 was set up for a new fire pump. This latter item was not spent last year, however, and will be carried over in this year's budget.

The report lists total expenditures of $794,173 in the city street department last year, or $65,961 more than the total available income of $728,212 for the year. The total outgo was $61,703 higher than the $732,470 appropriated in the original budget a year ago.

The street department account had a balance of $12,985 at the beginning of the fiscal year. Receipts amounted to $410,697 and transferred funds totaled $304,529, boosting the total available revenue for that department to $728,212.

Street department allocations of federal revenue sharing funds last year included $125,000 in capital expenditures—primarily for equipment—but some of these expenditures were not made.

One city official noted that most shortages in the general fund are absorbed by federal revenue sharing money and cited these instances as examples of what could happen to the city if those funds were not available. Granite City, like many taxing bodies, has turned more and more in recent years to federal revenue sharing funds to meet its mounting payroll.

The report shows that the general fund account, including funds transferred from the state income tax and sales tax funds, had a total available revenue of $5,024,292 during the 1978-79 year.

All general fund expenses amounted to $5,065,719, or $61,427 more than the total income, the report indicates.

For all general fund accounts, the city had a balance of $376,061 at the beginning of the fiscal year.

During the year, the city had total receipts of $2,400,974 in taxes and other revenue. Transfers to its various accounts from the sales tax and income tax funds (monies received from the state) amounted to $2,247,255, to provide the total available revenue of $5,024,292.

The working cash fund also is used to transfer needed funds to dwindling accounts, but a balance usually is maintained in this account. The working cash fund at the beginning of the 1978-79 fiscal year had a balance of $223,329 and receipts during the year amounted to $221,698 to provide a total of $445,028 in this account. Of this amount, $221,698—the total amount of the receipts—was transferred to other accounts.

The sales tax account had a balance of $90,026 at the beginning of the year. The $1,666,644. Transfers from city received a total of the sales tax account to $1,575,618 in sales tax general fund accounts bringing this account to $988 as of the end of the year on April 30.

The state income tax fund had a balance at the beginning of the year amounting to $89,982, but received $619,982 from the state during the year, providing total revenue of $709,965.

The city transferred $511,029 of this to the general fund accounts, leaving a year-end balance of $197,961.

Find 5 'Molotov cocktails'

Granite City police have found five Molotov cocktails—bottles filled with kerosene having a rag stuffed in the top as a wick—which were dropped in the 2800 block of Saratoga Avenue and at the Good Shepherd Church, 3025 National Ave., and in the yard of Wilson School, 2400 Wilson Ave., early this week.

Larry Strader, 2905 Saratoga Ave., told police Monday that he found two of the bottles, one broken and one intact, between his home and the home of Mrs. Kyong Linehan, 2801 Saratoga Ave. Mrs. Linehan told him she had chased four boys, ages 12 to 15, from between the houses about 10:20 p.m. Sunday and they may have dropped the bottles.

Identical bottles were found outside a door to Wilson School. Two had exploded. Another bottle was found between the sidewalk and the street of Good Shepherd Church, 3025 National Ave., where officials also found ruts in a circle in the front lawn.

A witness saw a new black four-wheel-drive truck with big tires and a multi-colored stripe on each side driving in the lawn. The driver wore a baseball cap and there were two passengers, including a woman, the witness said.

He did not see anything thrown out of the truck, so police do not know if the driving in the lawn and the finding of the kerosene bottle were related.

Of the five bottles turned over to police, only two exploded and another was broken. The remaining two were disposed of, officers said.

By KATHY SMALL of the Press-Record

Miss Judy Evans, 16, and Miss Deborah Kacera, 15, will represent Granite City in the Miss Teen-USA pageant to be held in Oakbrook this weekend.

Miss Evans is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Evans, 3028 Ash Ave. This will be the second time she will compete in the statewide pageant, having represented Granite City in last year's program. She was awarded top honors in the essay portion of the event.

Miss Evans is active in scouting as a squad leader in Explorer Post 10-33 sponsored by the Granite City Police. She is also a Senior Girl Scout in Troop 328.

William Frazier of State Farm Insurance and the Explorer Post are sponsoring Miss Evans.

Some of her hobbies include writing short stories and essays, singing and acting.

Miss Kacera is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kacera. She is being sponsored by Madison County Federal Savings and Loan.

Her hobbies include reading, sports, playing music and collecting pennies, and she is also active in Explorer Post 10-33.

Both girls are students at Granite City High School South.

The state pageant will include judging in such areas as scholastic and civic achievements, beauty, poise and personality.

Contestants are to give either a two-minute speech on "My Favorite Patriot," or presentation.

All entrants are between the ages of 14 to 18 and must have maintained a "B" average in school.

Each girl is asked to volunteer at least 12 hours of work to a worthwhile charity or civic organization.

The national pageant is set for Albuquerque, N.M., in November.

Jane Pospischel, 36, of 3611 Kirkpatrick Homes, was injured when she was struck by the auto of Neva Rivkin, 1424 Iowa Street at Nameoki Road and East 25th Street early this week.

The victim said she and Sheila Pospischel were crossing the road at the stop light when the light turned green and the auto struck both pedestrians, knocking them down.

Jane Pospischel suffered pain in her lower back and was X-rayed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center and released. Sheila Pospischel's injuries did not require hospital examination.

Long Lake fire district OK's $112,500 budget

Expenditures totaling $112,500 during the current fiscal year that began May 1 have been projected by the Long Lake Fire Protection District in a new 1979-80 appropriation bill.

The budget indicates total income of $115,367 during the 1979-80 fiscal year, including $3,204 in working cash funds that were on hand at the beginning of the current year. The district had a total balance of $13,348 at the beginning of the year, including the working cash funds, $8,500 in federal revenue sharing funds for fire hydrant rental and two certificates of deposit in the amount of $500 and $1,118. Bulk of the district's expenditures is $90,000 projected for payment of the district's contract with the Long Lake Volunteer Fire Department for services in answering fire calls. The budget also sets up $10,000 for new equipment, $1,500 for salaries of the trustees and $600 for convention expenses.

Administration costs are estimated at $200 and legal costs are projected at $1,500. Other budget items include $5,000 for contingencies, $2,200 for group insurance payments and $1,041 for hydrant rental. The district expects tax revenue of $92,019 and projects $10,000 income from issuance of anticipation warrants. This revenue, with the available balance, will produce the anticipated $115,367 income, the budget report shows.

Steel jobs reach nine-month high

Domestic steel industry employment reached a nine-month high in April. The number of persons engaged in production and marketing of steel rose to 457,845 persons—including 346,747

This was an increase of 2,439 employees from March, and marked the highest monthly employment total since the 459,866 figure in July of last year. During April 1978, comparable steel industry employment was 441,040 persons.

In April, this country's steelmakers paid out $938,033,000 in wages and salaries, bringing the total for the first four months of 1979 to $3,761,348,000. Total employment costs per hour for hourly employees, including fringe benefits, reached $15.58 in April. This cost averaged $14.30 in 1978.

Annexation, parking laws in GC council actions

An ordinance providing for the annexation of the Brinkhoff subdivision to Granite City and an ordinance amending the city's present weed control law were among bills adopted by the City Council in a regular meeting last week.

The annexation measure will add all of the Brinkhoff addition to the city, while the other ordinance establishes a penalty of from $10 to $500 in fines for permitting weeds to grow above eight inches. The penalty is applicable for each day of violation. City Attorney Lance Callis told the aldermen.

The council also approved an ordinance providing an 8.5 percent salary increase for the city's appointed officers, bringing them in line with the 8.5-percent salary increase that became effective May 1 for virtually all other city employees under terms of the working agreement completed a year ago. The wage contract covers a three-year period and will provide another 8.5 percent increase next year.

An ordinance prohibiting parking on the east side of Lydia Lane in front of 3454 Lydia Lane, also was enacted. Council members discussed the feasibility of establishing a no-parking area in front of a single house, feeling that it may set a precedent that could bring in many similar requests, but later agreed to go along with the bill.

They also enacted an ordinance that prohibits parking from 8 a.m. until noon on Sundays on the north side of St. Clair Ave., between the entrance and the exit driveways of St. John Lutheran Church.

The aldermen repeated earlier assertions that it is time to do something about revision of the city's sick leave ordinance after Finance Committee Chairman Paul Ray Bowler of the Seventh Ward submitted bills totaling $9,410 in sick leave and injured-on-duty costs for May.

One alderman noted that the list of sick leave payments included costs for 18 employees of the sewage treatment plant who reported sick last month. Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward noted the number of payments and asked: "Can anyone tell me why there are 18 who reported sick at the treatment plant?"

"I would like to know that myself," Ernest Hubbard, acting superintendent of the city's sewer department, said. "We brought in a report, but nothing ever was done about it," Douglas said. Sprinkle asked: "What can we do about it?"

Mayor Paul Schuler suggested, "This is the time to do it."

On a roll call vote on a motion to approve the $8,410 in sick leave payments, Douglas, Sprinkle and Alderman Lloyd Bailey voted "no." The final vote was 10 to 3.

The council approved a request by the Knights of Columbus to block off 21st Street between State Street and Edison Avenue for a dance on the night of June 30. The street will be blocked off from 2 p.m. June 30 to 2 a.m. July 1.

Replacement tax amended

H.B. 2589, a bill to replace revenues formerly provided by the now nonexistent personal property tax, was approved last week by the Senate Revenue Committee after being amended.

The amendment, which was approved by the committee by a seven to three vote, would allow corporations with multiple holdings to choose whether they file income tax returns on the individual incomes of each of the holdings or on the combined income of all holdings.

The measure as it left the House would provide an estimated $533 million in revenue the first year. Funds would come from a three percent income tax on corporations, a 1.5 percent tax on partnerships and trusts, and a .75 percent tax on the assessed capital of utilities.

The tax would be divided up between Cook County, which would get 52 percent of the funds and the rest of the state (48 percent). The bill moved out of committee by a vote of seven to four.

The legislation will probably increase the tax burden on Illinois manufacturers. However, the Supreme Court's action in invalidating the personal property tax, left it fairly inevitable that some kind of income tax increase would be necessary to meet the constitutional mandate.

The three percent rate and the $633 million raised are in excess of what was raised by the corporate personal tax. A problem is that the distribution formula will give Cook County more revenue than it, and local governments in it, lost when the personal property tax was terminated (PPT collections have been much poorer in Cook than downstate).

If the overall pool of replacement tax revenue is the same, Downstate will have less if Cook has more, so Cook County Democrats have made the total pool bigger.

$2,600 BURGLARY
Items valued at about $2,600, including a $1,800 garden tractor, were stolen from the storage shed at the home of John Perdue, 31 Mikel Drive, Arlington Heights, during the weekend. Also taken were a $500 air compressor, a $250 lawnmower and miscellaneous garden equipment. Perdue returned home and heard a truck leave from the rear of the home.

Condition of Shirlene holding pond assailed

Conditions of a holding pond at the end of Shirlene Drive near Maryville Road in Nameoki Township were assailed by two residents of that street during Monday night's Nameoki Township Board meeting.

According to one resident, "The weeds are atrocious, it smells bad and the mosquitoes are bad."

Officials explained that responsibility for the maintenance of the surface drainage holding pond was turned over several years ago to the township highway commissioner by the county. Since that time, residents feel, complaints voiced to the township have not brought action.

One man said he feels he has been "getting a big run around." He said there is water still in the pond from spring floods, a lot of weeds, and a foul smell.

The county maintained the pond for two to three years after the subdivision was built, but since the township took over the maintenance, according to Trustee Norman Hessler, "It looks like a swamp."

Trustee Lee Adams suggested if Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelic won't maintain it properly, the township could cut weeds and bill Mehelic. He pointed out that Mehelic is an elected official and does not have to answer to the town board, except in matters involving the highway budgets.

In other business, the town board adopted a policy for office employees changing the policy on termination and sick leave. The new policy, which adds CETA and Manpower employees, allows 12 days of sick leave per year, rather than the 10 allowed by the old policy.

After the third day of illness, employees will be required to have doctor's note if they are going to be paid. It also stipulates that employees will not be paid for accumulated sick days when they leave.

A letter was read from the county's Manpower office, reiterating that federal regulations prohibit the use of Manpower employees on private property, unless the property has been condemned by court order, or in the event of disasters, such as floods or tornadoes.

They can be used for trash collection only if the trash or limbs to be collected are on the curb or alley so they do not have to go on private property.

The letter also says that the use of Manpower employees by private businesses is prohibited, unless there is a job contract with the Manpower office.

The letter warns that although there may have been "possible past misuses," the Manpower office now is using a new monitoring system. "If we run into any agency not in compliance, we will terminate their contract," it concluded.

The board approved the payment of dues of $230 for annual membership in the township officials' association and $15 for the association's magazine to keep the township's two state laws and changes affecting townships.

The trustees were invited to attend training programs on the weatherization program. The Economic Opportunities Commission is sponsoring the training programs June 27 at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. at Edwardsville Township Community Building.

The board voted to reject bids it received on the sale of two old township trucks as being too low. They will seek new bids.

Bids rejected were $34 for an old dump truck and $15 for a pickup truck. Trustees agreed to participate in the state employees' retirement program (EMRP). In the past, only the employees working more than 600 hours a year could join. Trustees now can go back two years and pick up the retirement benefits, if they want to pay the dues for that time. The amount of the monthly dues is determined according to each official's salary and the program is voluntary.

Question-sessions for would-be chancellors

Interviews and question-and-answer meetings were held Monday and Tuesday at SIUE and SIUC for two of the four remaining candidates for chancellor of the Southern Illinois University system, Donald C. Swain, 48, and Durward Long, 47.

Long is vice-president for academic affairs of the University of Hawaii system.

Swain is academic vice-president for the University of California system headquartered at Berkeley. Similar meetings are planned with Kenneth A. Shaw, 49, president of SIU at Edwardsville, and Clyde J. Wingfield, 48, executive vice-president for academic affairs and provost of the University of Miami (Fla.).

A typical day was Swain's schedule at Carbondale on Monday—breakfast with acting chancellor James M. Brown, a one-hour session with SIUC President Warren W. Brandt, an open meeting with administrative and professional personnel, alumni, civil service personnel and the Council of Deans, a meeting with the acting chancellor's staff, a public gathering with faculty and students, and a meeting with campus vice-presidents.

Long is chief academic officer for the University of Hawaii's nine-campus system, where he has been since 1975. He also holds a professorship in history. Before going to Hawaii he was vice-president for extended academic and public service programs in the University of California system. He also was chancellor of the University of Wisconsin Center System, which runs the required two-year liberal arts pre-major program for students at Wisconsin's 14 campuses. He had been vice-chancellor for four years (1967-72) and was assistant vice-chancellor for academic affairs at the Madison campus of the University of Wisconsin.

A master's degree graduate of Auburn University, Long received his Ph.D. from the University of Florida in 1959 and taught history and political science for a year after that at Wheaton (Ill.) College.

He taught subsequently at Florida Southern College and the University of Georgia, and began administrative work in 1965 as assistant dean of the graduate school at the University of Georgia.

Long is the co-author of "Protest: Student Activism in America," published in 1970. He is married to the former Estrella Nina Celorio, a native of Cuba. They have three children, one of whom is a recent graduate of the University of California, Berkeley.

Shaw, president of SIU at Edwardsville since 1977, was born in Granite City. He grew up in Edwardsville and later was an academic and sports (basketball) standout at Illinois State University. He has a master's degree from the University of Illinois and a Ph.D. in counseling, psychology and sociology from Purdue University.

Before returning to his hometown, Dr. Shaw served seven years as vice-president and dean at Towson State University (Md.). He went to Towson State in 1969 as an acting dean and associate professor of sociology, and for three years before that served as assistant to the president at Illinois State University.

He is married to the former Mary Ann Byrne. They have three children.

Swain, a Des Moines, Iowa, native, has been academic vice-president, University of California Systemwide Administration, since 1975.

He had been in administration at the University of California-Davis for nine years before that, the last three as vice-chancellor for academic affairs.

Swain, whose academic field is history, has a bachelor's degree from the University of Dubuque and master's and doctoral degrees from the University of California, Berkeley. He was an assistant research historian at Berkeley for two years before going to UC-Davis as a history teacher in 1963.

He has written three books in two of his specialties—the history of American Science and conservation policies. Wingfield, an Arkansas native, has been the University of Miami's chief academic officer since 1976. For five years before that, he was president of Bernard M. Baruch College, a part of the City University of New York.

From 1969 to 1971 he was McElvaney professor of political science and public administration at Southern Methodist University and headed SMU's graduate program in public administration.

He was at the University of Texas, El Paso, from 1964 to 1969, advancing from a department chairmanship to an executive vice-presidency.

Wingfield has bachelor's and master's degrees from East Texas State University and a Ph.D. from Syracuse University. He has taught at Texas Technological College, Pennsylvania State University and Northern Illinois University—where he directed the public administration graduate program from 1962 to 1964.

He is the editor or co-author of three books and has contributed to two others. He is married and has two children.

Gas sold by half-gallons

The concept of gasoline sold by the half gallon, since the price is too high for most gasoline pumps to compute, reached this area this week.

P&S General Tire Co. in the 4100 block of Nameoki Road was selling gasoline Monday for 60 cents a half-gallon for unleaded and 55 cents a half-gallon for regular.

At 1:45 p.m. Monday, when many stations were displaying "out of gas" signs, P&S was pumping gas to those willing to pay $1.10 or $1.20 per gallon, depending on the type of gasoline required. Owners were in the process of putting up hand-made signs notifying motorists that the price they would be charged would be double the price shown on the pumps, since the pumps were not designed to compute prices in excess of 99.9 cents per gallon.

Therefore, the signs explained, the pumps were set at 55 and 60 cents per gallon and an amount double the price shown on the pumps was being charged.

The Press-Record received complaints that the half-gallon system was used at one station without notifying motorists they would be charged double the price shown on the pumps, but investigation failed to substantiate the claim.

Topic A—auto fuel

WSIE-FM (88.7), the radio station at SIUE, will broadcast a 90-minute call-in program focusing on the shortage of gasoline July 3 at 8:30 p.m.

On the eve of what is usually one of the nation's biggest motoring holidays, listeners will be able to share in a coast-to-coast discussion of one of the most talked-about topics of conversation in America's households—"Where's all the gasoline?"

Studio guests in Washington, D.C., will include representatives of the oil companies, gasoline station owners, and consumers. They are J. D. Aldous, vice president for public and government policy with the American Automobile Association, Risque Harper, executive director of the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, and Robert Goralaki, director of public information for the Gulf Oil Co.

Listeners will be invited to participate in the program by telephoning (202) 857-0888 to leave their names and telephone number. Their calls will be returned shortly before the program for their questions or comments.

Car is stopped; police arrest 2

Two men were arrested when police stopped a car on Bromley Avenue near East 24th Street at 2:45 a.m. Tuesday and alleged finding beer and wine in the car.

The driver, Gregory L. Rose, 22, of 3201 Kirkpatrick Homes, allegedly had a small amount of marijuana in a pocket of his trousers. Police checked and found there were three warrants on file against Rose which alleged criminal damage to property, reckless driving and illegal possession of alcohol in a motor vehicle.

In addition to the warrants, police charged him with illegal transportation of alcohol, possession of cannabis and improper lane usage.

A passenger, Mark R. Baker, 18, of 302 Wilson Park Lane, was charged with illegal possession of alcohol in a motor vehicle and was released.

A woman in the car was released without being charged.

Officers said they first stopped the auto because it was driving very slowly and swerving from lane to lane. The ownership of several items found in the car, including a sawed-off shotgun in the trunk, is being investigated. Officers said the car did not belong to either of the men arrested.

CYCLIST IS HURT

Jimmy Hayes, 24, of 22414 Edison Ave., was injured last week in a motorcycle accident and was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center for knee pain. He was released.

Thunderbirds to fly in area

A world famous aerial demonstration team, the U.S. Air Force Thunderbirds, will perform at 3 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 18, during the Scott Air Force Base annual open house.

Gates will open to the general public at 9:30 a.m. and close at 4 p.m. on Aug. 18.

Displays will include public viewing of the C-5 Galaxy (the world's largest aircraft), C-141 Starlifter, F-15 Eagle and many other aircraft.

Band concerts, refreshments an Air Force patrol dog demonstrations will round out the afternoon.

Also, special events are planned in honor of military retirees.

Scott AFB is located just off Interstate Highway 64 (Exit 19A) at Illinois 158.

3 hurt in crash

Three East St. Louis residents were treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center following an auto accident last week.

Reginald Ware, 17, said she struck her mouth on the car's steering wheel and suffered neck pain. Cuts to her mouth were sutured and she was released.

Orlando Underwood 16, hit the right side of his head on the windshield and was admitted for observation of a head injury.

Gregory Ware, 16, suffered a headache after the crash and was X-rayed and released.

Explain need of platelets

The Red Cross Blood Service explained today the need of blood for production of "platelets."

Platelets are small fragments of cells in whole blood. They are formed in the red bone marrow of healthy persons and are disk-shaped and colorless, a spokesman noted.

Platelets promote blood coagulation as they help form blood clots that in turn stop bleeding by plugging openings in blood vessels.

Patients who most often require platelet transfusions are those whose bone marrow produces too few platelets, such as leukemia patients, or those cancer patients undergoing X-ray or chemotherapy treatments.

Such treatment suppresses the bone marrow's normal production of platelets. Platelets are also used to control bleeding during procedures such as open heart surgery, the spokesman added.

The technical processing of platelets from whole blood must start within four hours of collection from the donor and the product must be transfused within 72 hours.

To prepare platelets from the single unit of whole blood the blood is placed in a centrifuge, it was explained. The spinning causes the blood to be separated into three parts, red cells, plasma and platelets. All of these products are available for distribution. In this way at least three patients can benefit from one donation, the spokesman concluded.

State's June gasoline supply called adequate

It appears that there will be adequate supplies of gasoline to satisfy Illinois motorists' needs through the end of June if drivers "continue to act rationally and to conserve," according to Frank Beal, director of the Illinois Institute of Natural Resources.

"Based on several indicators, the institute is confident that supplies will be sufficient," Beal said. "Of course, this presumes there will not be widespread instances of panic-buying or tank-topping on the part of motorists."

The institute announced Friday it will release all gasoline not needed for hardship cases back to the marketplace beginning this week.

A reserve will be maintained to assist in the event that further hardships develop for particular retail gasoline dealers, communities or other applicants to the state's Emergency Fuel Set-Aside program.

At the beginning of June, 19.9 million gallons of gasoline had been placed in set-aside for distribution at the direction of the Institute.

However, it had been necessary as of Friday, June 22, to distribute only about 27 percent of that quantity, leaving the bulk of the set-aside available for mass-release.

An estimated eight million gallons of gasoline will be distributed to retail gasoline stations before the end of the month, Beal said.

"This is a substantial quantity of gasoline, and will help ensure that motorists will suffer no unnecessary inconvenience in buying fuel."

But Beal warned that the current situation quickly could be changed.

"To illustrate the potentially harmful effects of panic-buying and tank-topping, let us assume that motorists normally carry an average of five gallons of gasoline in their tanks at any one time. Then assume that half of the state's seven million drivers suddenly fill up their tanks because of concern over the availability of gasoline," Beal said.

About seven more gallons of gasoline would be pumped into three and one-half million automobile tanks suddenly withdrawing 24.5 million gallons from the state's gasoline service stations.

"We began the month with about a 12 percent shortage compared to June 1978 — about 50 million gallons.

"Tank-topping could add another 25 million gallons, thereby creating a shortage of 75 million gallons.

"There is no need for this to happen; Illinois motorists have been driving less and have been conserving. Tank-topping could nullify all the progress Illinois citizens have made.

"In addition, motorists who until now have had to bear up under inconveniences such as shorter hours at the service stations and Sunday closing — suddenly would be faced with massive inconvenience if long lines developed at these service stations because of panic-buying.

"The shortage would worsen even further, as cars waiting in line would burn about one-third of a gallon per hour of waiting. Fuel burned in this wasteful manner would not be available for more useful purposes like commuting and pleasure trips.

"I urge all Illinois motorists to continue conserving fuel and to exercise the restraint that has been shown so far," Beal said.

"There is no cause for alarm, and falling prey to the 'California syndrome' would only cause us great harm and undo the admirable work all of us have done so far."

"In addition, motorists who until now have had to bear up under inconveniences such as shorter hours at the service stations and Sunday closing

Driver says car not hit by cycle

James Derossett, 1912 Johnson Road, reported Tuesday that his car was not involved in a collision with a motorcycle driven by Bryan Barnes, 22, of 4912 rear Hills Ave., during an accident in front of Derossett's home during the weekend.

Derossett said the motorcycle was passing his car on the right as he was making a turn into his driveway, and that the motorcycle struck the curbing, spilling the driver, but did not hit his car.

Barnes was treated at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, X-rayed and released.

CONTOUR ANALYSIS EXAMINATION FOR VICTIMS OF CHRONIC OR ACUTE PAIN

A free Contour Analysis examination is being offered for people with acute or chronic pain by the chiropractic offices listed below. People who suffer with backache, bursitis, arthritis, neurogia, nerve pain, neck pain, muscle pain, bone pain, etc., are invited to receive this free examination.

Contour Analysis enables taking a three-dimensional picture (called Moire photography) of the topography of the surface of the spine to detect spinal stress deviations. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomatology, and levels of spinal tenderness. An analysis of this type can reveal such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns, spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortion, and scoliosis.

This analysis, including consultation with the doctor is being offered to the public at no charge. Anyone wishing to receive this free examination may telephone Dr. Reinhardt's office directly for information or on appointment.

2 Corinthians 13:14
"The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen."

The Apostle Paul has said it all in his closing statement to the Corinthian church. He mentions the grace of God, the love of God, the abiding presence of God.

It is by grace that we are saved. We cannot become Christians by works or any other means. Grace itself is a gift of God. (Eph. 2:8-9).

It is by God's love that grace appears to us. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

By the promise of Jesus, "I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you." We have the assurance of God's abiding presence. "I will pray the Father, and He shall give you another comforter, that He may abide with you forever."

It's all yours. Today.

Sunshine on Energy

By DAVID COHEN

Oil company executives openly acknowledge that the public doesn't believe them about fuel shortages. Consumers are angered by rising prices. The Carter Administration has moved back and forth with uncertain direction on the energy issue, alternately attacking Congress, consumers, and the oil industry. Congress has refused to deal with the energy problem in any serious way. And the newly-formed Department of Energy completed its first year behind "closed doors."

The DOE leads all federal agencies in the number of freedom of information requests it denies. Sixty percent of all requests for information the DOE received in its first year of operation were partially or fully denied, according to a recent Common Cause study. Seventy-five percent of those denials that were appealed were reversed at least to some extent. If a judge's decisions were reversed three-quarters of the time, that judge would be viewed as being ignorant of the law. The Energy Department is plainly flouting the freedom of information law. DOE has other bad secret habits. It withholds from the public almost three-quarters of the raw data it collects from energy reports.

Some special interests do get inside access to information that is refused the public. In a recent investigation of the Energy Department, the newly created independent Inspector General (IG)—the DOE office that blows the whistle on department fraud and abuse—found that the Energy Department provided confidential information to an oil industry trade association lobbyist before releasing this information to duly recorded in the Recorder's Office of Madison County, Illinois, in Plat Book 13, Page 44. Commonly known as 3979 Lake Street.

Citizen's view

David Cohen is President of Common Cause, a non-partisan citizens' lobby.

the public. The IG concluded that the Energy Department had "maintained a double standard of access to information" that favored the American Petroleum Institute.

President Carter and the Congress ought to take the IG report seriously by insisting on adequate staff for the Inspector General so that the large scale fraud and abuse that the IG says is "now undetected, unreported, and unpunished" stops immediately.

How can policies be sensibly evaluated or issues fairly discussed if vital information is locked up or oil and gas interests get favored treatment by the Department?

How do we reduce our growing dependence on foreign oil imports, increase our supplies, accept conservation practices and develop alternative energy resources? How do we muster the kind of public support and national commitment required to give serious solutions a chance? The answers are not easy. But one thing is certain. The Department of Energy must end its pro-secrecy policy. What must be done administratively should be done by Congressional action. Whether it is crude oil stocks, uranium resources, or other matters, the public, Congress and other sectors of the federal government have a right to know what is behind the information and to make sure fraud is stopped.

Americans are historically selfless in times of crisis. But no one is going to sacrifice in ignorance.

CAPITOL COMMENTS

June madness hits legislature

BY KEN WATSON
SPRINGFIELD — "The names may change some, but they're still the same."

That comment on the legislature was from a well-qualified source, Shelby J. Vasconcelles, recently retired Statehouse press secretary. He dropped in early one morning to do a little voluntary tidying up of the Press Room, which clearly reflected the ravages of a late-night session of the legislature.

It is too bad that the resourceful Vasconcelles could not apply some of his varied talents to tidying up the legislative operation which is again going into its final days cloaked in confusion and threatened with chaos.

The only question is whether the situation is as bad as it has been in the past or whether it is worse. It seems like years since the legislature last had an orderly windup and few have any hopes of this year.

As recent events, which came after weeks of commendable hard work and progress, showed patience is growing thin, tempers are growing short, frustration and physical weariness are beginning to take their toll.

There has already been one "fight," a heart attack and enough on-the-floor profanity to shock a Girl Scout troop. Statehouse veterans deplore a decline in legislative decorum, but perhaps this just reflects a changing attitude in American society.

In any event, as the legislature stumbles into the closing days the gulch between the 23rd men and women who make the laws of Illinois and the 11.5 million people who live by them once again is widening.

The average Illinois citizen and taxpayer remains perplexed as to why the lawmakers fail to accomplish anything substantial during the first four to five months of the session and seemingly leave everything to the hectic final weeks or days.

Individual legislators, especially sensitive this year because of the pay raise uproot, feel they are misunderstood, their motives unfairly and unjustifiably questioned, and that their hard work and long hours go unappreciated.

Probably more than ever before, this backwash is focused on the Statehouse press corps, which the legislators principally blame for their poor image back home.

This fight-back-at-the-press attitude is reflected in the advancement through the legislature of a bill that would charge newspapers, the wire services and other news media rent for use of Capitol press facilities. Another bill symptomatic of the counterattack would require reporters examining campaign contribution records to say for whom they work.

In fairness, it must be admitted that as charged by Sen. John Knuppel, some reporters have been "facetious" in citing reasons for looking at records. Some reporter comments, intended to be cynical or funny, would in an earlier day have bought the writer a transfer to Bismarck, N.D., or the midnight police beat in Chicago.

It should be noted, too, that the great majority of legislators are indeed hard-working, conscientious, able lawmakers. It is generally acknowledged that today's legislators are in ability and qualifications considerably above most of their predecessors.

But there remain enough borks, boobs and schemers if not downright scoundrels to give the whole body a bad name. As legislators who voted against the pay raise well know, the public thinks of the legislature in a collective sense. Very few people ever know how their individual legislators voted on a specific bill.

As the June madness has one more descended on the Statehouse it should be noted it is a result far more of shortcomings in the legislative system than due to legislative personalities or character.

Illinois does have the third largest legislature in the country. The California House has only 80 members compared to Illinois' 177. Neighboring Indiana and Wisconsin have 100 and 99 respectively. Michigan gets by with 110.

Nor has anyone been able to come up with a way of limiting the vast number of bills introduced, well over 4,000 for this session. The committees have been so overloaded they have scarcely been able to function as intended.

The unwieldy legislative process is also becoming steadily more expensive. The 1977-78 legislature cost the taxpayers some $35 million. In 1971-72, the tab was about half that — $18 million. Talk about inflation!

Branch banking voted down again

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD—A major piece of legislation sought by large Illinois banks was defeated in the General Assembly.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. James McPike, D-Alton, would have allowed banks to form multi-bank holding companies.

The holding company concept was the latest plan in a 20-year struggle to have branch banking approved in this state.

Illinois and West Virginia are the only two states which have not enacted some type of legislation permitting the major banks to open branches.

Legislation permitting branch banking in one form or another has been sought in every legislative session since at least 1959. Such legislation is favored by most of the larger banks in the state.

They argue laws must be changed to modernize the banking system and to permit them to provide necessary services to their customers.

Although the population has shifted from the central cities to the suburbs, the banks have been restricted to their original locations.

They say convenience is the key factor in a person's decision on where to conduct financial transactions, and the major banks are being unfairly discriminated against.

Opponents of branch banking, generally described as the smaller and more rural banks, argue the two major Chicago banks, First National Bank of Chicago and Continental Bank, want to establish banking monopolies.

The smaller banks say citizens are provided better services by bankers from their own community because they can be assured their money is used locally and not to finance international conglomerates.

The real purpose of branch banking, opponents argue, is not to provide better service to citizens, but to control a greater percentage of the assets in the state.

Banking interests also lobbied extensively at the state Constitutional Convention, and the result is a section in the 1970 state constitution which requires an extraordinary three-fifths vote in the legislature for approval of branch banking.

However, the multi-bank holding company proposal introduced this year by McPike was not defined as branch banking by the parliamentarian of the Illinois House.

The bill provided that the state would be divided into five regions and holding companies could buy banks only in certain regions—thus blocking Chicago banks from expanding downstate.

Also, holding companies would be limited to buying five new banks.

The parliamentarian ruled 89 votes, a simple majority, was needed for passage. Prior to being placed on the order of postponed consideration, the vote was 88 in favor, 61 opposed, 11 voting present and 16 absent.

Opponents of the legislation say the close vote was misleading, though. For one thing, they think some switches were pulled for absent representatives, and that a verification would have been requested had the total reached 89.

Also, opponents say a few lawmakers voted in favor of the bill at the last minute when it was clear that it would not pass, just to appease the lobbyists for the big banks.

Without question, the banking legislation is one of the most heavily lobbied bills of the session. The big banks formed the Association for Modern Banking in Illinois to conduct their lobbying and the smaller banks formed the Independent Community Banks in Illinois to do their lobbying.

Lobbying has not been restricted to the Statehouse, either. The big banks, for example, have conducted petition drives among their customers and they have advertised their position with paid media commercials.

The smaller banks promoted their position recently by having former President Gerald Ford as their featured banquet speaker.

The banking attention now shifts to legislation sponsored by Sen. Vince Demuzio, D-Carlinville, which allows banks to provide electronic funds transfer services to customers through automatic teller machines.

The parliamentarian in the Senate defined Demuzio's bills as branch banking and therefore needed the three-fifths vote. The bills were approved in the Senate 46-4 and sent to the House.

One of the bills would allow a bank corporation to operate an electronic fund transfer network under its direct control or join a statewide network with at least 200 banks under dispersed ownership.

The other bill would allow a bank to establish 10 automatic teller machines off the bank premises. Automatic teller machines are designed to handle any transactions that a human teller can perform.

Both bills were supported by the lobbyists for the smaller banks.

Nixing nukes would have fallout

By L. S. CLEMENS
CHICAGO—One thing about it: If the foes of nuclear energy plants are correct, there won't be anyone around to say—or hear—"I told you so."

The anti-nuke group came away from the nation's capital recently mighty glad-ended over the turnout there to protest further development of such plants.

The protesters numbered over 70,000—enough, said its leaders, to insure that the growing use of nuclear energy will be a political issue come the next election.

That may be so, but if it is, it will be flying in the face of the "me first" interests of recent years.

The energy crunch is now so serious that an end to nuclearpower plant construction in the next few years would turn back the clock on the American lifestyle.

And I cannot see either a candidate for elective office proclaiming that bit of bitter truth, or a majority voting for him if he did.

We are truly in the situation in this country that Eric Sevareid has described. We are refusing to even discuss what ails us.

The cry, "baloney," drowns out every discussion of the energy crisis—and, as with nuclear plants, we have experts on both sides telling us how it really is to be sliced.

Deregulation a cure? Pick your champion. Sure say yes, some say no. The sun as an energy source? Certainly, say some of those who bear the title, heating engineer. Years away, say others. Who can claim a similar label. Gasohol a complete answer? Great fuel, say some. More expensive than gasoline, say their friends across the street. Limitless supply of coal? Indeed yes, trumpet the miners. Too dirty for immediate use in its raw form say the environmentalists. Massive reserves of oil shale in rock? Yes indeed, says the geologist. Technology too weak on ways to remove it, say the oil companies.

Now deadlines are being set, and it doesn't really matter whether an actual shortage exists, or whether the controlling capitalists are on the prowl for the maximum dollar.

Nuclear energy offers our only hope for a quick fix. Without it, we are going to see automobiles relegated to short trips or to the garages, our homes, factories, stores and office buildings once again waiting for the cool breezes in the summer time, our railroads and waterways once again main arteries of transportation, the sounds of airplanes no longer a continuing song from our skies.

I suspect it can be safely said that not many of the 70,000 who gathered in Washington, D.C. hear this silence; feel this heat or chill that is a part of limited protection, or see this slower pace to all movement.

If political action is to be their goal, their reaction to those who will tell them of these truths will be interesting to watch. Are they prepared to follow? We will see.

Safety comes first

By ART SCHUMANN

Even though the hunting season is now history, there are many who won't be putting their guns away. Most simply begin a new shooting season on trap or skeet fields and rifle and pistol ranges.

One significant difference between most target shooting and gunning in the field is the closer proximity of other shooters and a much higher volume of rounds fired.

The record of safe gun handling on target ranges over the years has been exceptionally good and continued attention to this important detail should keep it so. However, there is another safety factor that sometimes receives less attention than it deserves.

This involves proper protection for both eyes and ears. Continued exposure to the sound of nearby firearm reports without ear protection will ultimately cause a decrease in hearing acuity.

The availability of various types of hearing protectors can lessen or eliminate potential hearing loss. It is a foolish shooter who does not take advantage of these devices.

The protectors range from throwaway or reusable earplugs to sound-deadening muffs that cover the entire ear. In all cases they reduce considerably the impact of sound concussion on the inner ear without eliminating ability to hear normal conversation.

While ear specialists recommend the muffs that also cover the bone area behind the ear as the best protection for continued noise exposure, any degree of protection is better than none at all.

All shooters should use some sort of protective glasses when on the range. These can include inexpensive plastic safety glasses, sunglasses, the shooter's own prescription lenses or specialized shooting glasses.

Special shooting glasses are recommended as a best choice since they can provide the shooter with other visual benefits besides simple eye protection. Such glasses have a higher bridge, raising the lenses higher on the shooter's forehead. That makes it easier to see through and not over the lenses while sighting down a gun barrel.

In addition, shooting glasses are now produced in a variety of image-enhancing lens colors that can make targets stand out more distinctly against certain backgrounds and different conditions of light or brightness.

After you've covered the "Ten Commandments" of shooting safety, add two more, for proper protection of your eyes and ears.

DAMAGE EQUIPMENT—Two pieces of Terminal Railroad Association track maintenance equipment were damaged by vandals at 24th and Adams streets, it was discovered Monday.

A track shearer had been moved about 90 feet on the rails, air hoses were cut and the glass was broken from the gauges. A tie inserter also had gauges broken, rail officials said.

By submitting this coupon for reimbursement you represent that you redeemed it pursuant to these terms. Any failure to enforce these terms shall not be deemed a waiver of any of the conditions.
